

CONGRATULATIONS

The Bull, on its thirty-ninth anniversary, proudly highlights, in pictures and narrative, the chronicle of the Institution.

The history of The Bull dates back to May first, 1928, when it made its advent as the glamorous photogravure of campus life with Leon Steele as Editor and J. H. Whiteman as Business Manager. Since that date the publication of the annual has been continuous with the exception of a period of suspension during the lean years of the War and Recession. It has acquired and preserved cherished memoirs for the University Family which become more dear as the years pass.

THE CENTENNIAL CONVOCATION
OF
JOHNSON C. SMITH UNIVERSITY

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

1867-1967

The Reverend Samuel Carruthers Alexander was born in Shirleysburg, Pennsylvania. He received the degree of A.B. from Jefferson College in 1858 and was graduated from Columbia Theological Seminary, Columbia South Carolina in 1861. He was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Charleston, South Carolina, in 1860, and was ordained by the Presbytery of Concord, North Carolina in 1861.

Reverend Willis L. Miller, attended Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia, 1853-1854. He was licensed to preach October 27, 1855 and was ordained by the Presbytery of Orange in 1857. He was pastor in Pittsboro, North Carolina in 1857-1858 and was Stated Supply of St. Lloyd Church, Catawba Presbytery, U.S.A. Rev. Miller later became field agent and travelled extensively in the East in an effort to raise money for the Institution.

DIGESTED CHRONICLE of One Hundred Years

1867-1891: Founding Period and Early Development

In 1867, two years after the Civil War ended in America, the strong demand was for trained leadership among the newly liberated slaves. To meet the demand in this section of the Southland, two Presbyterian Ministers, Reverend Samuel C. Alexander and Reverend Willis L. Miller, devised a plan to educate and evangelize the Freedmen.

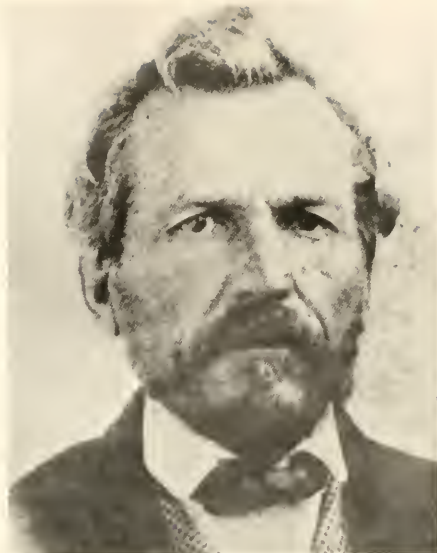

Authorized by a state charter, which had been procured in the spring of 1866, the two ministers met with the Catawba Presbytery on April 7, 1867, and perfected plans for founding and operating the proposed institution. The Reverend Alexander and the Reverend Miller, were elected by the Catawba Presbytery to be teachers and were to be associated equally in the "conduct and management of the school."

Major Henry Jonathan Biddle

Major Henry Jonathan Biddle lost his life fighting for the cause of the Union and human freedom in 1862.

Colonel William R. Myers

Colonel William R. Myers was born in Anson County, December 17, 1813. He studied law under Governor Graham of Hillsboro, North Carolina. When the founders were striving for a permanent location for the infant institution, he donated the first eight acres of the present site.

When Mrs. Mary S. Biddle, the widow of Major Henry J. Biddle who died fighting for the cause of the Union and human freedom, received information through the church papers concerning the preparatory steps, she made the first major donation to the infant institution.

The first session of the school was held on May 1, 1867, in the "Audience Chamber" of the "Old Colored Presbyterian Church" (Now 7th Street Presbyterian Church) with eight or ten students in attendance. In the fall of 1867 the charter was amended naming the institution, "The Henry J. Biddle Memorial Institute," honoring Major Biddle and expressing appreciation for the widow's timely gifts. In 1868, Colonel W. R. Myers, Confederate Civil War veteran of Charlotte, North Carolina, donated eight acres of the present site as a permanent location for the school.

Dr. Stephen Mattoon 1870-1884; 1885-1886
First President

Dr. Mattoon was born in Champion, New York, May 5, 1815. He graduated from Union College, Schenectady, New York in 1842. He studied at Princeton Theological Seminary and was ordained as an evangelist by the Presbytery of Troy, February 11, 1846. During the same year he became a missionary to Siam. On his return to the States he served churches in New York and North Carolina before he was elected president of the Institution in 1869.

Calvin McCurdy
Rome, Georgia

B. F. McDowell
Greenville, South Carolina

On October 9, 1869, Reverend Stephen Mattoon was elected the first President of the institution and began his executive role in February of 1870.

The first graduating class consisted of three persons who completed the course of study for seminarians in 1872. In the beginning the purpose of the institution was to train ministers, teachers, and catechists. Later, however, other branches of a classical nature were added and in 1876 the name of the school was changed to "Biddle University." The same year, 1876, Daniel Wallace Culp became the first person to graduate from the College Department with the Bachelor of Arts degree.

The "Audience Chamber" of this church was the first class room of the institution. After the school located permanently on the outskirts of town, now Beatties Ford Road, the students walked across town to attend Sunday School, prayer meetings, and church services at this church until a campus church was erected in the early twenties.

Dr. William F. Johnson, President of the Institution from 1886 to 1891, was born in Cadiz, Ohio, March 16, 1838. He was graduated from Jefferson College in 1854 and from Western Theological Seminary in 1860. He was licensed and ordained to preach in 1860 and became a missionary to Allahabad, India in 1861.

Dr. Johnson resigned the presidency of the Institution in 1891, returned to India, and served continuously until his retirement on December 4, 1922.

Dr. Johnson died in Landour, India, June 29, 1926.

After fourteen years (1870-1884) as President, Reverend Mattoon resigned to accept the newly established Chair of Theology and Church History. He was succeeded as President by Reverend William A. Holliday who remained for only a year. Reverend Mattoon was recalled to serve as President for another year (1885-1886). Reverend W. F. Johnson was elected President in 1886.

The first Negro to become a member of the faculty of the Institution was Dr. George E. Davis, who was born in Wilmington, North Carolina, March 24, 1863 and died in Greensboro, North Carolina, January 11, 1959.

He graduated from the Institution in 1883 with the highest honors and was offered a position upon graduation. But the young man had set his heart on being a physician and entered the school of medicine at Howard University. After two years of study at Howard he heeded the urgent request of the Institution and returned as a teacher. In 1885 he became professor of mathematics. He was also secretary and dean of the college of liberal arts.

The George E. Davis Science Hall on the campus is a monument to his memory.

Dr. George E. Davis

Two significant steps were taken under the Johnson administration. First, Mr. George E. Davis was appointed Professor of Natural Science and thus became the first Negro member of the faculty. Second, an Industrial Department was added to the curriculum which was later discontinued.

Dr. Daniel Jackson Sanders, 1891 - 1907

In 1891, the Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., elected Reverend Daniel J. Sanders, a Negro, to the Office of President of the Institution. This step caused no little controversy in Church annals but the Board was adamant. One of the first significant projects of the new administration was to provide adequate library facilities for the Institution and through negotiation with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, a fund raising campaign was begun immediately to match the provisional gift of $12,500. A substantial dormitory for men was also a vital necessity. This was made possible by a gift from Mrs. Mary A. Carter of Geneva, New York. In 1896, The Freedmen's Board of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. estimated the total value of the Institution, thirteen buildings and grounds, to be $125,000. After sixteen years of creative leadership, President Sanders died on March 6, 1907 and was succeeded by Reverend Henry L. McCrorey.

Dr. Sanders was born February 15, 1847 near Winnsboro, South Carolina on the plantation of Thomas Hall, a Methodist minister, to whom his mother was enslaved.

When the master died, his estate including his slaves, was sold to Major Samuel Barkley, the owner of Dr. Sander's father. The family was thus brought together under one master, where they remained until the Emancipation Proclamation was declared. The Sanders' son was given the rudiments of education in the Barkley home for at the age of sixteen he had acquired considerable learning and was a skilled boot and shoemaker.

After over-coming many difficulties, he was brought to Brainerd Institute, Chester, South Carolina, where his academic and leadership abilities soon became known. In 1870, he was licensed to preach by Fairfield Presbytery and in 1871 he enrolled in Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pennsylvania, from which he graduated with prizes in Hebrew and Sanscrit three years later. Immediately after graduating in 1874, he went to Wilmington, North Carolina and began a career of church and school work which Lincoln University rewarded with honorary degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Divinity. After sixteen years at the Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church in Wilmington, he resigned to go abroad in the interest of the Board of Missions for Freedmen's Program of Education. In 1879, he began publishing "The Africo-American Presbyterian" and brought it with him to Charlotte when he was elected President of Biddle.

These men were hurriedly trained because the need was urgent. Their training, however, was at the hands of well tutored, consecrated, and dedicated instructors. They captured the spirit of their tutors and in turn gave their best in the same spirit to the eager men who came to the Hill-top, "glad to learn and glad to teach."

The University Printing Press

On January 1, 1879, The Afro-American Presbyterian, a religious and educational journal, was started in Wilmington, North Carolina by Reverend Daniel J. Sanders, as a semi-monthly publication. Three months later, Reverend Sanders bought the goodwill of The Southern Evangelist, merged their purposes and consolidated their subscription lists.

The Southern Evangelist, was, itself, the result of a previous merger. During the spring of 1874, Reverend J. H. Shedd, Biddle Professor, began publishing a monthly folio, 6 x 10 inches, called The Christian Freedmen, devoted to the interest of Christian Education and the Presbyterian work among Freedmen. In 1875, one year later, "The Christian Freedmen" was merged with The Southern Evangelist, which was started in 1869 by Mr. W. A. Patton of Charleston, South Carolina and Professor Shedd and published in Charleston.

When Dr. Sanders effected a merger of The Southern Evangelist and The Afro-American Presbyterian, The Christian Freedman became a full-blown, three-in-one Christian journal. When Dr. Sanders came to Biddle in 1891, he brought with him the three-in-one journal thus returning the merged Christian Freedman back to its birthplace.

Mr. W. E. Hill, Sr., Associate Editor of The Afro-American Presbyterian came with Dr. Sanders to Biddle and assumed a greater portion of the business of publication for the campus.

Among the invaluable and worthy contributors to The Afro-American Presbyterian was the Reverend William L. Metz, "The Sage of Edisto Island" who will be long remembered, among many things of scholarly value, for the series of articles published by the Journal under the title of "Blazers and Chips."

Mr. W. E. Hill

Associate Editor of The Africo-American Presbyterian

Mr. Hill, a quiet, unassuming but lovable person — was faithful and skilled in the business of publication. He began with The Africo-American Presbyterian as a boy in Wilmington, North Carolina and with the exception of a few months, remained with it continuously for fifty-two years. He was affectionately referred to as “Mr. Africo-American Presbyterian”.

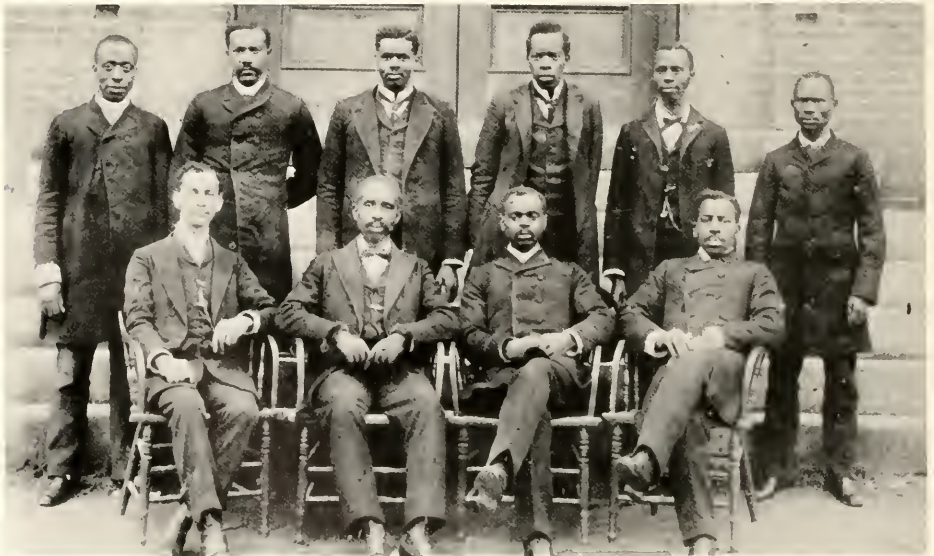

The Press took over the responsibility of all campus publications including the Biddle Catalog. In addition, the Press greatly enhanced the training program on the campus. A Printing Course was offered and the students received both theoretical and practice in the fundamentals of the printing business.

Dr. R. L. Douglass, instructor, was at the school for forty-four (44) years as a student, teacher, professor of mathematics and was for many years head of the Department of Mathematics, 1903-1947.

Dr. Henry Lawrence McCrorey, 1907-1947

Dr. McCrorey was born in Fairfield County, South Carolina, March 2, 1863. He came to Biddle as a young boy of modest means but with high ambitions. He graduated from the College of Liberal Arts in 1892, and from the Theological Seminary in 1895. Upon graduation he was employed at Biddle as a teacher in the high school department but was later promoted to the chair of Greek Exegesis and Hebrew. Following the death of President Sanders in 1907, he was elected president of the Institution.

His administration was long and fruitful. As a professor under Dr. Sanders' administration, he had become well aware of the institution's program and needs. Dr. McCrorey asked the Freedmen's Board for a considerable amount of money to begin a program of expansion and enrichment but was told by Dr. J. M. Gaston, the Secretary, that the Board did not have the money but he would introduce him to a person who might make him a grant. Together the two went to the home of Mrs. William Thaw of Pittsburgh. After Dr. McCrorey presented the Institution's cause, Mrs. Thaw gave him a substantial donation and called her friend, Mrs. Johnson C. Smith, and made an engagement for Dr. McCrorey with her. Mrs. Smith was impressed with Dr. McCrorey's statement of the Institution's needs and later made it felt in a very tangible way.

Dr. McCrorey was acquainted with the late president's efforts toward providing adequate library facilities, and immediately revived the Library Fund Campaign.

The plea for adequate library facilities began as early as 1873 when President Mattoon appointed Reverend R. M. Hall part-time librarian and began appealing to "the generosity of friends for good books." Soon after President Sanders became president in 1891, he began negotiating with Mr. Andrew Carnegie for aid in providing adequate library facilities on the campus. With the assistance of Booker T. Washington, who had both the confidence and friendship of the philanthropist, a provisional grant was made. The provisional offer stipulated that the philanthropist would contribute $12,500 for the cause provided an equal amount would be raised to guarantee the security and growth of the proposed library. The Board of Missions for Freedmen accepted the offer, expressed the Board's gratitude and approval and immediately set up a fund-raising campaign for matching the offer. When Dr. Sanders died in 1907, $3,947.75 had been raised toward the fund. By 1911, however, under the shrewd administration of President McCrorey the matching fund exceeded its goal by $2,500. The building was erected at a cost of $15,000 and was dedicated on May 30, 1911, in connection with the commencement activities.

Carnegie Library, built of stone near the center of the campus in 1911, is a two story building, which contains the reading room, reference shelves and office on the top floor; the stacks, reading lounge, a work room and a storage room at the basement level. The total holdings of the library system (including that of Carnegie and the Theological Library) are approximately 72,000 volumes.

The President's Chair

On May 20, 1909 William Howard Taft delivered an address to the faculty and students of the Institution. Prior to his arrival the secret service men inspected the platform and other equipment connected with his appearance. They found that the Institution did not have a chair large enough to hold the President. So the faculty pooled their money and bought a chair for the occasion. And down through the years it has been known as the President's Chair.

At the turn of the century the church related schools began to sing to survive. The schools trained groups of singers to sing to the heart of America — from door steps, back and front; from platforms of schools, churches, halls, and all along the sidewalks of life they sang to the hearts and consciences of the fortunate — singing to open wide the door to opportunity.

During the school year 1907-1908, Biddle attempted to strengthen its life-line through the medium of singing and Dr. Thomas A. Long, 1907-1947, organized the first University Quintet consisting of S. Q. Mitchell, John O. Foster, Richard S. Allen, D. W. Clayborn, and Raymond A. Montinez.

The Quintet made its first significant appearance before the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. in 1909 on Young's Pier on the Boardwalk of Atlantic City, New Jersey. For more than thirty consecutive years following this initial appearance the Quintet sang for this august body.

On Friday evening, July 10, 1942, one of his compositions, "Suite for Strings", was played by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of the rising young Negro conductor, Dean Dixon. The Saturday edition of the New York Times for that week observed, "Mr. Morgan seems to have done a little of everything; play writing, acting, directing, law, playing the organ, leading a choir, singing, teaching. His suite is his Opus 54 and was written in 1941."

Mr. T. B. Jones, fourth from the left, has, since leaving his Alma Mater, made distinguished contributions in education: Registrar at A.&T. When Dr. McCrorey succeeded Dr. Sanders in 1907, he became the first graduate of the Institution to achieve the distinction of becoming its chief executive. In addition to completing the matching fund for the library, he set out to greatly expand the plant. This and many other advances were made during his administration which lasted for forty years.

Inside Carnegie Library

In 1917, the high school department was dropped making possible greater emphasis at the college level. This year also, the Institution was given "A" rating by the North Carolina State Board of Education. Miss Mary Mattoon and Mrs. Emma Thomas, daughters of the first President, Dr. Mattoon, made a gift of fifteen acres of land to the Institution thereby increasing its grounds from sixty to seventy-five acres. The gift brought great rejoicing during the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Institution's founding.

It was also in 1921 that Mrs. Johnson C. Smith of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, began making generous gifts to the Institution. Her gifts resulted in the addition of nine buildings to the plant and a substantial endowment. In grateful appreciation for her interest and support, the charter of the Institution was amended in 1923 changing the name from Bidle University to Johnson C. Smith University.

BLOCK BULL SESSIONS

Biddle men often gathered leisurely to discuss issues and coming events. One subject that invariably came up for discussion was, one of the earliest of student functions which combined literature, art, music, oratory, and social festivities, the "March Ex". This was Biddle's glamorous Spring festivity exhibiting superb finesse in culture, charm, fine literary tastes, and the superlatives in social graces. It was each young lady's dream to be asked to grace this Spring occasion.

Athletics, debates, and many other subjects, for the students' ears only, received confidential airing in these block sessions.

Generous benefactress and Friend

Mr. Smith attended Washington and Jefferson College. He operated the Hiawatha Drug Store in McKeesport and was president of the Street Railway Company. He was also one of the builders of the Fifth Avenue and High Street Bridges and president of its Board of Directors. Mr. Smith was director of the People's Bank in McKeesport and held large real estate and other interests in the city. He was one of the co-founders of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company. It was from this enterprise that he accumulated a large portion of his wealth.

It was Mr. Smith's will that his wife invest some of the money he had left her in some worthy cause. For sometime she had been weighing possibilities in an effort to decide upon which of the causes known to her would make the best investment. It was during this time that Mrs. Thaw made an engagement for her to talk with Dr. McCrorey.

Wednesday, October 12, 1928, was declared a red letter day on the campus in Mrs. Smith's honor. She was present for the activity and sat tremendously moved as the expressions of gratitude and material tokens said "thanks" in many, many ways to her.

As the years come and go Johnson C. Smith University men, successful in the various walks of life, will return to their Alma Mater to pay homage at "Our University Shrine" and to live over again those happy days when the smile of approval of our noble benefactress inspired them to develop the best in them.

So wrote Editor-in-Chief, John Edgar Smith in the Mrs. Johnson C. Smith Souvenir Edition of the Alumni Journal in October of 1928.

The Jane M. Smith Memorial Church, located near the entrance to the campus, is a gift of the late Mrs. Jane Berry Smith. This structure, built of colonial brick with limestone trimming, has a front supported by limestone columns. The structure is one of the most beautiful of its kind to be found on the campus of any college in America.

Johnson C. Smith Memorial Theological Dormitory, which stands on the eastern side of the campus, supplies rooms for about 62 students. It was named for the late Mr. Johnson C. Smith of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The James B. Duke Memorial Hall

The development of the Institution was accelerated and made more secure in 1924-1925 by an endowment gift of $1,600,000 from Mr. James B. Duke of Charlotte, North Carolina.

Duke Hall is the Institution's monument of gratitude to our benefactor. It is the first dormitory to be constructed on the campus for the housing of women students. It is located across Beatties Ford Road from the main campus at the southwest end of the University campus. The building is Georgian in style with exterior wall of brick and limestone trim. It is three stories high above the basement with an elevator shaft. In addition to ideal living quarters for approximately 110 students, it provides directors' office, beauty parlor, an infirmary, laundry and trunk room.

Mr. James B. Duke

Mr. James Buchanan Duke was born in Orange County, North Carolina, December 23, 1856. He died October 10, 1925. In December 1924, Mr. Duke, Charlotte, North Carolina, gave the Institution an endowment estimated at $1,600,000. This gift is possibly the greatest endorsement of the merits of the school it has ever had.

Mr. Duke, a Southerner by birth and training, was a genuine patriot and philanthropist.

He was one of the great industrialists of his day. He organized the Duke Power Company which is one of the major power companies in America.

Duke Hall, the first girls' dormitory on the campus, is named in his honor.

Dr. John Montgomery Gaston was born in East Liverpool, Ohio, September 12, 1868. He died after a brief illness, March 20, 1960 at his home in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was approximately 92 years of age when he died.

He was graduated from Princeton University in 1892. While at the University he studied pre-law under Woodrow Wilson.

In 1912 he was elected associate secretary of the Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. with headquarters in Pittsburgh. He spent the major part of his time traveling throughout the United States seeking support for the schools and colleges maintained by the Presbyterian Church for Negroes in the South. In 1914 there were one hundred and forty schools and colleges under his supervision. When Johnson C. Smith University became an independent institution in 1938, Dr. Gaston gave up his responsibility for the school and church work sponsored by the Board of Missions for Freedmen to become the secretary-treasurer of Johnson C. Smith University.

During the 1924-1925 session, the Institution was recognized by the North Carolina State Board of Education as a four-year college. In 1929, the High School Department was dropped and the standard program was restricted primarily to Liberal Arts and Theology. In 1932, women were admitted to the senior division (junior and senior college classes) of the program.

During the year 1933, the Institution was given "A" rating by the accrediting agency of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and in 1934, it was elected to full membership in the American Council of Education. By July 1935, 2,965 persons had graduated from the Institution.

Barber-Scotia
Affiliated with Johnson C. Smith University

In 1932, Barber-Scotia College was affiliated with Johnson C. Smith University and the Institution which had been a seminary for men for sixty-five years became partially co-educational by admitting women to its Senior Division (junior and senior college classes). Barber-Scotia became one of the two Junior Colleges with L. S. Cozart as Dean of the Women's Junior College and T. E. McKinney as Dean of the Men's Junior College. In the best interest of both institutions this relationship was later discontinued.

Some of the finest types of womanhood were produced by Scotia. In fact it soon became known as the haven of rest for Biddle men and the home of wives for school Presidents.

Commencement: Academic Procession

Scene during the Diamond Jubilee Celebration

On May 15, 1942, the Institution celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary which resulted in a revived awareness of the Institution's great heritage and its serious needs to survive the changing times and demands of a post-war world. In 1943, the position of Executive Vice-President was created by the Board of Trustees and a new plan involving a long-range program of self-study, redevelopment, and expansion was set in motion.

During Founders Day

Johnson C. Smith University joined the United Negro College Fund in 1945. This Fund was organized primarily to help church-related and other private schools of higher learning revamp their training programs, expand their plants, promote faculty growth and create new areas of service rather than perish. The Institution's membership in the Fund began to bear fruit immediately.

Dr. Hardy Liston, Sr. was born in Fairfield County, South Carolina, March 30, 1889. He received the degree of A.B. from Johnson C. Smith University in 1911. In 1925 he was awarded the B.S. degree by the University of Chicago and the A.M. degree from the University of Chicago in 1928.

His teaching experiences began in 1912. He taught in Spartanburg, South Carolina, at Swift Memorial College in Tennessee, Kitrell College in North Carolina; served as dean of Winston-Salem Teachers College, Winston-Salem, North Carolina; Knoxville College dean, Knoxville, Tennessee; and executive vice-president of Johnson C. Smith University, 1943-1947. He was elected president of Johnson C. Smith University July 1, 1947. He died October 20, 1956. During his nine years of administration more than a million dollars worth of improvement was made at the Institution.

The McCrorey-Liston High School in Fairfield County, South Carolina stands as a monument confirming the esteem of those who knew him best.

Dr. Hardy Liston 1947-1956

In 1950, President Liston added to his campus-wide fact-finding Campaign a Fund-Raising Campaign. The Fact-finding campaign was headed by a faculty-student committee to tour the campus and buildings and make recommendations of how much of the inactive parts of the plant could be reclaimed and utilized. This was carried out and a program of innovations and repairs began. The Fund-Raising campaign's purpose was stated in a brochure, "An Overlooked Element In Community Well-Being and Prosperity" as follows: "to expand the plant, to raise faculty salaries, and to enrich the training experiences of the Smith student. THE THREE TOP NEEDS: A Gymnasium-Auditorium, A Central Heating Plant, A Seminary Building, Addition to Dining Hall, New Cottages—Part of the Theological Center, additions to the Library, additions to the Science Hall, small Memorial Chapel, and new dormitory for girls."

The three-year study, revealed great needs for enrichment and expansion. Although the Self-Study was never culminated some of its findings were implemented.

The Fund-Raising Campaign may be considered successful when the following achievements are reviewed: Carter Hall, erected in 1883, had a new structure constructed within its old hull; the Science Hall was renovated and rededicated "The G. E. Davis Science Hall"; the Carnegie Library, erected in 1911, was renovated, re-equipped and its holdings increased; faculty salaries began upward; the new Heating Plant was erected. The redevelopment campaign was in full swing when the Liston administration was suddenly cut short in 1956.

Carter Hall under re-construction

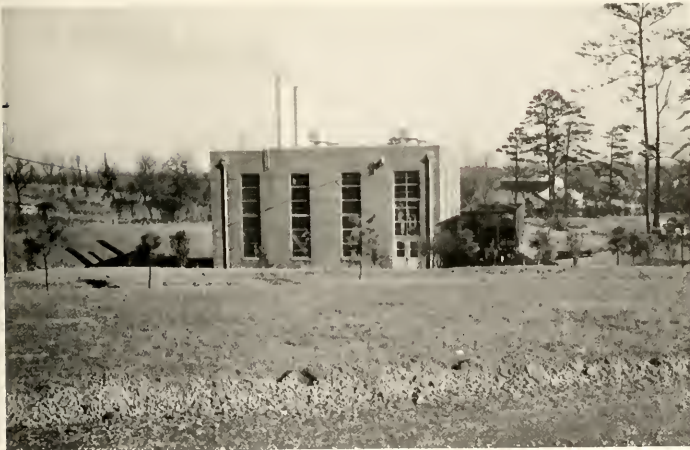

Carter Hall—Built in 1895, the first substantial men's dormitory built on the campus. Prior to 1895, the men had been housed in three crude frame buildings: Asia, Africa, and Australia. Australia was the smallest of the three but all three gave way for the new structure which housed about 150 students in its three stories above a basement.

Old Heating Plant

New Heating Plant

President Liston found the old heating plant, like much of the rest of the plant, in serious need of repair or replacement. The Depression and War years had taken heavy toll on the plant. The President erected the new plant and had sufficient funds to complete all payments when it was ready for use.

The installation of the first Student Council at Johnson C. Smith University by Executive Vice President H. Liston. The members of the Council are: William Davis, President; Henry H. Holder, Winoma Lee, James W. Smith, Joseph Maxwell, Darius Swann, Gladys Coles, Allestine D. Sparks, John McHugh, Raymond Mitchell, William Bowers, Margaret Keller, and Eva Green.

The Student Council is an organization composed of student representatives, based on the belief of faculty and students that there are "educational, social, and moral values in student participation and self-direction", and on the desire of students "to develop and maintain high ideals of conduct, to co-operate effectively with the administration and faculty in upholding high standards of citizenship and scholarship in the University."

The Henry Lawrence McCrorey Theological Building, dedicated on November 12, 1955, is the administration building for the School of Theology. It was erected from funds raised by faculty, students, friends, alumni, and churches in the Catawba, Atlantic, Blue Ridge and Canadian Synods, and the Building Funds Campaign of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. It contains three stories, including eight classrooms, offices for the Dean and the faculty members, a library, an assembly room, a room for meditation, the office of the Field Representative of Catawba Synod, and a recreation and stack room.

This building was erected under the Liston Administration and named for his predecessor.

Biddle Memorial Hall

In deepest appreciation for Mrs. Smith's benevolence, the Trustees voted to name the Institution Johnson C. Smith University and name the Administration Building Biddle Memorial Hall.

On the walls of this Hall hang pictures of the Founders and some of the Builders of the Institution. Biddle Memorial Hall contained the administrative offices of the University, recitation and lecture rooms, book store, post office, student health center, snack bar, and lounges for faculty and students before the Student Union was erected. The building consists of five stories with a tower. It is located on the highest knoll of the campus and may be seen from almost any section of the campus city. The alumni installed a chime clock in its tower during the 20's. The basement and fourth floor of this building were reclaimed and converted into classrooms in 1954.

The Library Annex

The Library Annex was set up as a temporary building adjoining Carnegie Library in 1946 to house the large overflow on the return of the World War II veterans. The Annex is now used as a classroom and assembly room for group gatherings.

President Liston had this building erected and a village of trailers installed in the pine forest behind the temporary President's home to house the veterans and their families. These trailers were removed as the veterans completed their training at the University.

THE FAMILY SPIRIT

In the early days when the population of the campus ranged between three and five hundred, there was a warmth, closeness and concern which permeated the campus and engendered the term "The University Family". It was such in concern and deeds. Later, however, the Old Order began to pass away; the population began to increase rapidly and that early spirit began to wane. Faculty turnover became more rapid and with the New Order came the trend of off-campus homes and apartments.

On February 13, 1930, the University of Pittsburgh, on an all-southern tour, meeting such teams as the University of Tennessee, Emory University, Oglethorpe University, and Birmingham Southern College, met Smith on the question, "Resolved, that modern advertising is more detrimental than beneficial to society." Mr. Elliot Finkel and Mr. C. J. Phillips defended the affirmative for Pittsburgh against Mr. A. J. Clement, Jr., and Mr. E. C. Grigg, Jr., who upheld the negative for Smith.

This was a non-decision debate followed by an open forum discussion.

FORENSIC COMPETENCE

During the developmental years excellence in public address, forensic activity and informed conversation was emphasized. Once each year this was highlighted in the "March Exhibition" function. Throughout the years, however, debating was a top-list performance.

One of the first annual events sponsored by the General Alumni Association was the annual Junior Prize Oratory Contest. The prestige and popularity of this once elegant activity began to wane and when it reached a very low ebb in the middle forties, the General Alumni Association voted to discontinue it. Before it was dropped, however, the persons on the following page had won the coveted prize:

Alumni Medal Winners

Walter C. Daniel

Walter C. Daniel of Macon, Georgia, won the Elks National Oratorical Contest in 1937. In 1940, he won the Junior Oratorical Prize Contest. Dr. Daniel received the bachelors degree in 1941, the Masters degree later and in 1963 earned the Ph.D degree in English. He is currently head of the English Department at A. & T. College, Greensboro, North Carolina.

DEANS OF THE SEMINARY FROM 1907-1921

In the beginning there was little or no great distinction between the Seminary and the College. At the turn of the century, however, a distinction emerged and the Deanship was established. Dr. McCrorey became both the President of the College of Liberal Arts and the Seminary and also Dean of the Seminary. In 1921 Reverend York Jones became the top official of the Seminary.

After the church structure was erected on the campus all the faculty members were expected to attend and support the University Church. It was an offense for students to miss. Later, the demand became less rigid and students were allowed a certain number of cuts and local faculty members and faculty members of other denominations began to visit churches of their choice.

It was customary for the faculty to sit on the rostrum flanking the President. Absences from these meetings, by both faculty and students, were frowned upon by the administration.

Meals were served family style in the early days. This provided for proper guidance in the observance of acceptable table manners, conversation and the other graces practiced in polite society at meal times.

Later, the students formed lines and marched by the steam tables to have their meals served and found seats of their choice. As the enrollment increased both these systems became impracticable as the lines frequently reached far beyond the outer confines of the structure designed for five hundred students. Winter weather and inclement weather in the summer made a replacement of the system and building a necessity.

Commencement at Smith is an eventful occasion and a little bit more. When held under the ancient oak which dates back to the infant days of the Institution an atmosphere prevails which only nature can induce.

Mrs. Liston loves flowers and likes to see them grow. This year, they were beautiful and the President stopped to pose among them with her.

In 1947, President McCrorey retired and Dr. Hardy Liston, Executive Vice President and an alumnus, became the first lay chief executive of the Institution. After nine years, during which more than a million dollars was spent on improvements, enrichment, and expansion, President Liston died on Homecoming Day, October 20, 1956 and Dr. James W. Seabrook, an alumnus, trustee and loyal supporter, was called to serve as interim President. Coming out of retirement, Dr. Seabrook was content to "hold the fort" until his successor was chosen.

DEAN JOSEPH A. GRIMES

The Humanitarian

Dean Grimes presented a front as rugged as the rock of Gibraltar but had a heart that was tender and highly sensitized to the needs and sufferings of others.

It was this inner spirit which won him wide favor among those who knew him best.

The plaque he holds, presented by the Trojan Club, Inc., symbolizes the respect and gratitude of a group of boys who were traveling a dangerous highway but were re-routed and are now successful business men. Two of the persons below are grandsons of W. E. Hill, Sr. One is a successful contractor in Charlotte. One is Superintendent of Buildings at Johnson C. # STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The Argus

The Biddle Outlook

The University Student

The first recognized student paper to be published was called, "The Argus". It was initiated in 1904 with Holly Blanton Taylor as Editor-in-Chief. This paper was first published as a twenty-four page journal, 5 1/2 x 11.

Both faculty members and students contributed articles and poems to this publication. Dr. P. W. Russell's narrative poems appeared regularly in The Argus. It is significant that the Post Office address was changed from Biddleville, North Carolina to Charlotte, North Carolina in the Vol. IX, No. 4 January, 1911 issue of The Argus. S. Q. Mitchell, class of 1911 and R. A. Martinez, class of 1911 were Editor-in-Chief and Associate Editor respectively that year.

The second official student voice was The Biddle Outlook. On the editorial page of the November 1920 issue is the following statement, "The Biddle Outlook is issued the 25th of every month in the scholastic year under the auspices of the students of Biddle University." Following this statement H. L. McCrorey, Jr., Editor-in-Chief, persuaded his muse to dictate the following lines, "Hence the first tick (issue) of the clock (Outlook); which we hope is the beginning of many recurring, successive, and successful ticks.

A. H. Prince, Secretary — J. M. Rollins, Treasurer.

We may conclude, however, that the Outlook had a run of eight years as the third paper published by the students began publication in 1928.

First Issue and Staff

The third student paper to receive administrative sanction was The University Student. It came to the campus to stay October 15, 1938, with Arthur G. Cooper as its first Editor-in-Chief. The subscription fee then was one dollar per year. The paper was published monthly during the school year. The original subscription fee was later dropped and a modest fee was added to general entrance fees to cover the cost of production. This assured each student of a copy.

After twenty-five years of publication, The University Student may be said to have reached its highest peak of achievement. With Barbara Ferguson Editor-in-chief and L. M. Wright faculty advisor, the paper merited nation-wide recognition in 1963.

Dr. Seabrook, a trustee and loyal supporter of the institution was elected Interim President by the Trustee Board in 1956, following the sudden death of Dr. Liston. He is a product of the Board's program of education. He has a keen intellect and is a wise administrator with untapped sources of energy.

His preparatory education was done at the Presbyterian Parochial School in Sumter, South Carolina where he was born. His education was continued at Harbison Institute at Abbeville, South Carolina. He next enrolled in Biddle University and graduated with the A.B. in 1909. He received the Masters degree from Columbia University and matriculated for the Ph.D degree.

In 1923, he became dean of Fayetteville State Normal School and later president.

Wise and fundamental in principle, he reluctantly came out of retirement in 1956 to answer the call of his Alma Mater.

Dr. Rufus Patterson Perry

Dr. Rufus Patterson Perry was born in Brunswick, Georgia, June 4, 1903. He received the B.A. degree from Johnson C. Smith University in 1925; the M.S. degree from the University of Iowa in 1927 and the Ph.D degree in 1939. From 1927-1943 he was professor and head of the Department of Chemistry at Prarie View A and M College, Prarie View, Texas. In 1943 he accepted the position of administrative dean and vice president of Langston University, Langston, Oklahoma and served there until June 30, 1957. On July 1, 1957, he became president of Johnson C. Smith University.

Upon assuming the presidency of the Institution, Dr. Perry immediately established himself as a vigorous administrator of a church-related college worthy to carry on the work so nobly begun by his predecessors. He has the quality of personal dignity and ease of insight both of himself and in the minds of people about him. His warmth and quiet manner have endeared him to the Church, alumni and people in all walks of life. With a fresh and optimistic outlook he has set himself to the task of elevating the college to a more lofty position in the academic field.

Dr. Rufus P. Perry, an alumnus, was elected President on July 1, 1957.

Under the present administration the plant has been expanded to include a gymnasium, a girls' dormitory and the University Memorial Union Building; the financial situation has been improved and faculty salaries continued upward.

Liston Hall, dedicated on April 7, 1963, is a dormitory for women. Of modern design, the building accommodates 152 students. It has two parlors, two apartments for dormitory directors, and other facilities adequate for the convenience of young ladies. The building was named in memory of Dr. Hardy Liston who served as President of the University from 1947 until his death in 1956.

The University Memorial Union, dedicated on May 30, 1965, is a beautiful three story building which includes dining hall, conference rooms, faculty and student lounges, book store, post office, and four guest rooms.

The new Hartley Woods Gymnasium was completed in 1961. It is ideally situated on a spacious plot adjacent to a wooded area of the campus and well away from other campus buildings. The gymnasium is a split-level brick and steel structure with the main playing floor, seating capacity of 2500, two lobbies, and accessory equipment and storage rooms on the upper level. On the lower level are five instructors' offices, two classrooms, the main equipment and storage rooms and the main physical education locker and towel rooms.

A glass enclosed corridor connects the Pool Building with the lower level of the gymnasium. The south wall of the building is of fixed glass with sliding glass doors that open onto a patio which extends the length of the building. In the foyer of the South end is the display room or Hall of Fame.

As a result of extensive trips and an album of sacred music, they were the recipients of a national honor. They were chosen the official broadcasting choir of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. for 1964 for the Protestant Hour.

When Dean Owena Davis came to Johnson C. Smith University in September, 1956, she brought a rich program of self planning through organization of councils among on and off campus women, and of self realization of the changing role of women, through Annual Women's Week programs. The tenth anniversary of this series of program will be observed this year with emphasis on New Dimensions for Johnson C. Smith Women in the school's next century. Initiating this program in February 1958 was a distinguished alumna, Dr. Mildred Mitchell Bateman, psychiatrist. Another alumna, Dr. Annie Louise Richardson was special speaker for the

Some of the other outstanding consultants on topics re the Education of and Job Opportunities for women were: Dr. Evelyn Boyd, Dr. Flemma Kittrell, Mrs. Christine Ray Davis, Dr. Virginia Lacy Jones, Dr. Thelma Davidson Adair, Attorney Yolanda Chambers. A special feature each year is the recognition of outstanding women students of the University.

University women have been greatly challenged to personal responsibility through extensive relaxation of regulations and the use of senior counselors.

Dr. J. M. Gaston, third from right, died in 1960 and Dr. W. L. Moser, to his right, succeeded him as Secretary-Treasurer of the Institution.

Dr. J. W. Smith, second from left, is currently secretary to the Board of Trustees. C. A. Johnson, (picture not shown), is currently president of the Board.

Rev. Belton helps Dr. Perry adjust the amplifier while Dr. Baulknight, President of the General Alumni (1959) waits to greet the high spirited crowd.

Trustees N. L. Gregg, C. E. Bomar; Rev. J. T. Jones, Rev. H. Wilson, and Rev. H. L. Counts wait in line behind the speakers' table.

Time merely serves to increase the significance of this convivial occasion. Class reunions, memories recalled, greetings, projections, and gifts to the Institution are a few of the stimulants for the warm and jovial atmosphere which always characterizes this annual function

Projections

"It does not yet appear what we shall be but we know . . ."

No man can predict with certainty the character of the future. On the bases of obvious trends, however, certain sound conjectures can be made. In view of definite trends, therefore, we project a future for Johnson C. Smith University demonstrating notable advances in Plant expansion, Cultural enrichment and in a quest for new found knowledge and skills commensurate with the demands of a nuclear age.

The following buildings are now under construction; a library building and two dormitories, one for men and one for women, at a cost of approximately two million dollars. On the agenda for early construction are a science building and a fine arts center to cost two and one half million dollars. The present enrollment is approximately twelve hundred students and a sizeable waiting list is on file. Currently the operating budget is close to two and a half million dollars.

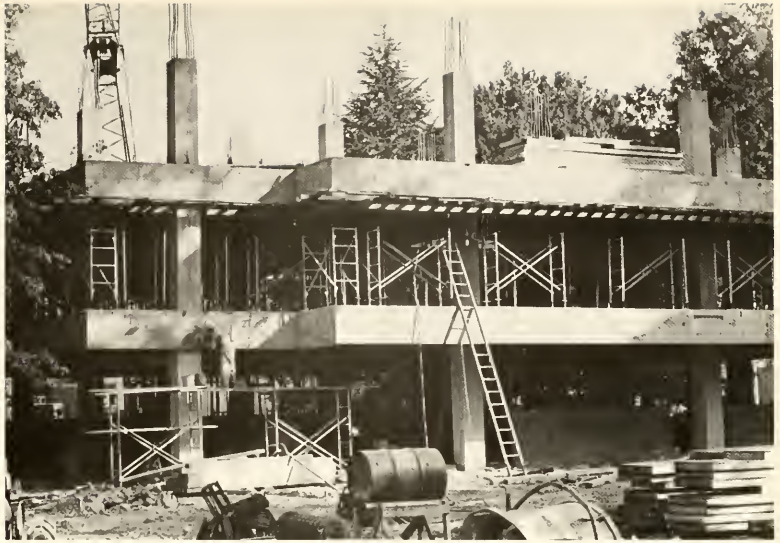

Through the years, the list of alumni has grown to approximately four thousand and most of them have done honor to themselves and their Alma Mater through significant achievements and worthy contributions to American culture.

Among the areas of program development, three are outstanding: the two-year institutional self-study; the choir received national recognition in 1961. It was chosen the official radio choir of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. for "The Protestant Hour"; the band became the pride of the campus and community and chamber music and music concerts have enhanced the cultural atmosphere of the campus. The athletic program has been broadened to include more sports and has merited considerable recognition.

The President looks optimistically toward the future as Johnson C. Smith University plans for dynamic contributions to "New Dimensions in Higher Education".

Dr. Jack S. Brayboy

Dr. Brayboy's early training was done in the public schools of Vineland, New Jersey, where he lettered in football, basketball, track, and was selected for two years as end on the Mythical "All-State" football team.

While in Vineland High School he took the "College Preparatory" course and finished in the upper fourth of his class in 1939.

In the fall of 1939 Dr. Brayboy matriculated at Johnson C. Smith where he was selected to the Mythical "All-CIAA" team at the position of end in football in 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, and to the Mythical "All-American" team in 1940, 1941, 1942.

In 1941 and 1942 he was chosen to appear in the publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" and graduated in 1943 with majors in chemistry, mathematics, and physical education.

Dr. Brayboy matriculated at the University of Pennsylvania in 1947 and received the M.S. degree from that Institution with a major in physical education in 1949. From the same institution he received the Ph.D degree in 1960 with Director of Teacher Education as the area of specialization. The title of his thesis was "The Relative Value of Selected Variables as Predictors of Freshman Achievement at Johnson C. Smith University.

In 1946 he was employed as instructor of physical education and assistant football coach at Johnson C. Smith University and upon the death of Coach Crudup became head coach and served three years in that capacity, and for eight years as head basketball coach.

He is a member of the following professional and social organizations: American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, American Association for University Professors, Phi Delta Kappa, Pi Phi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Jack and Jills of America, and Torch Club — an interracial professional men's club.

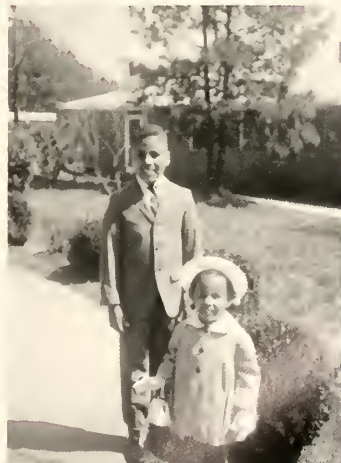

"This desk is cleared for once. Should I wait for the telephone to ring or some one to knock at the door? No, the building is quiet, everyone left hours ago. Perhaps I'll just go home."

In 1960 he was appointed director of athletics and head of the physical education department. In 1961, he was appointed chairman of the Division of Education, Psychology, Physical Education and Health.

In 1965, he became Executive Dean at Johnson C. Smith University and in 1966 he was appointed a member of the CIAA Basketball Tournament Committee and was elected Vice-President of the Southern District of the CIAA.

Dr. Brayboy belongs to several distinguished professional, civic, and religious organizations. He is married to the former Jeanne Martin of Camden, South Carolina and they have two children — a son, Jack III, age 8; a daughter, Joyce, age 3.

Statement

This book is a chronicle of events at JCSU from 1867-1967. Those at the University, alumni, and friends will recognize the people and events that have shaped 100 years. The pictures will, we hope, make it possible for you to relive your own school years.

It is a book of reminders and memoirs — the old, the new, and the future as envisioned by the Staff. The students, the teachers, and also the activities have made obvious changes. Within, however, a progressive metamorphosis is taking place to keep pace with the modernistic trend exemplified by the University's plant development.

We of the BULL staff have attempted to present here a truly memorable picture of yesterday and today and to project the new Johnson C. Smith University, its students, its teachers, and its activities, as we climb "A Century of Progress Up Stepless Stairs".

THE ADVENT OF THE BULL

The most exciting publication by the students was the fabulous "BULL". The Bull may be termed the glamorous photogravure of campus life and activity. It began its brilliant career in 1928 and except for a break in publication during the War years and Recession it has continued publication. Its annual appearance has furnished big moments among the University Family.

The Bull was first edited and published by the Junior class but later became the responsibility of the Senior Class. In addition to dedicating each annual issue to a staff member of its choice, the class releases its creativity and ingenuity in a variety of ways.

The Bull has afforded many enjoyable moments and memory stimulants when Smith men and women turn back the pages to the facts and fun of yester-years. This glowing word of praise attests to the esteem the Alumni held for the publication:

"Nothing like The Bull has ever before been published in the history of our Alma Mater. It's cost alone — $1,950, will at once impress one with the magnitude of the undertaking. The Bull modestly says that it is published by the student body, but one seriously suspects that some of the newer blood of the faculty gave wise directions and supervision.

An attempt to describe The Bull serves only to stress the poverty of the English Language. The Bull must be seen — yea, possessed to be fully appreciated. In size, it is eight by eleven inches, substantially bound, with the name in raised letters upon the cover, the whole surmounted by a real "live" bull. It is said the title itself is a delicate tribute to Mr. James B. Duke to whom this issue of The Bull is dedicated, whose "Bull Durham" tobacco is well known.

The Bull is the highest expression of the printers' art, and each page carries a light blue border. It is printed on a 120-pound supercalendared stock, and is in every way a worth while publication. All concerned with its publication deserve the highest commendation. Every Alumnus should own a copy."

PAST

DEDICATION

Mrs. I. M. Parker

She hurriedly enters the classroom and asks unsuspecting students a question. Every poem, every short story, and every essay takes on a new and more profound meaning as she relates them to every-day life situations. Her presence is always felt because she possesses such a dynamic personality and sense of humor. Dedicated to the Institution, she has worked tirelessly on the Centennial Committee; and the BULL staff is indebted to her for her assistance in telling the history of the school.

Mrs. I. M. Parker, the CENTENNIAL BULL STAFF salutes you, a seemingly "tireless" one.

Barbara J. Flack

The wise use of leisure time is an art in itself. Following an interesting day of classes and conferences, Mrs. Parker relaxes and contemplates the thoughts and expressions of the masters of the arts and the English language.

Education should never be confined between the bindings of books. Life giving experiences are found everywhere we look and observe; Mrs. Parker finds information for daily class enrichment in professional periodicals.

"Lose no time; be always employed in something useful; cut off all unnecessary action." The words of Ben Franklin could never have been more correct and precise when it comes to the classroom activities of Mrs. Parker.

PRESENT

DEDICATION

Madam Eunicetine Adam

With understanding, diligence, patience, sincerity and dedication to the task of informing and inspiring her students, Madam Eunicetine Adam has won a lasting place of affection in our hearts. It is now with warmest appreciation that we dedicate the "Present" phase of the Centennial Bull to her as a symbol of our esteem.

During the decades of her services to the Institution she has represented the zenith of proficiency as an educator which is rarely, if ever, surpassed.

... in her classroom ...

... assisting the students in the lab.

One leaves her office consoled and cheered by the radiance of her smile and genuine concern.

OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTOR

Dr. Stephen Klepka

For our Outstanding-Contributor we have selected Dr. Stephen Klepka. Born and reared in Poland, he did all of his work of higher education at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri.

Dr. Klepka may be seen walking very hurriedly to and from his classes, uttering not a single word, seemingly lost in solemn meditation. To those who are not familiar with Dr. Klepka, he appears cold and other-worldly, but we who have classes under him find him a delightful treat. There is no coldness in a man who has an open ear for those who have problems; there is no other-worldliness about a man who says "Come over to my house and we will discuss the problem further". Every minute of his waking hours is spent helping to prepare us for the challenge that awaits us in this "Great Society".

It is a pleasure to present Dr. Stephen Klepka as our outstanding contributing professor of the year.

Study comes as a delightful pleasure to all, including those who dedicate themselves to the enlightenment of others.

A regular part of Dr. Klepka's activities comes during his arduous office hours in 03. Conversation is always geared to the development of man through the advancements of history.

The genuine skills of the historian are revealed during every class session. Major historical events are taken into consideration from the beginning of history to the flight of the Gemini space vehicle.

President's Message

In this centennial year this edition of the BULL is truly a significant achievement in technical skill and understanding of our great institutional heritage. It has recorded the past, assessed the present and envisaged the future, all for which the students and the staff of the BULL are to be congratulated. Now, let us move into the second century of the University's existence with high hopes for its future. May we hope that it will continue to remain a place where students and faculty are free to learn and to teach for life and living in a free society and where we will at all times seek the truth and prepare to meet the challenges of the years ahead.

Rufus P. Perry
President

Executive Dean

Dr. Jack S. Brayboy, Executive Dean
B.S., Johnson C. Smith University; M.S. University of Pennsylvania;
Ed.D., University of Pennsylvania

It is a distinct pleasure to bring greetings to our students, alumni, and many friends on the occasion of our centennial celebration.

Rousseau said, "There is a period of life when we go back as we advance". This centennial year marks just such a period in the life of Johnson C. Smith University. A review of the history of our Alma Mater readily reveals that former generations of Smithites have passed to us a much stronger institution than they inherited. We are enjoying fruits nurtured by many dedicated men and women who preceded us.

While we look back to pay tribute to our predecessors, we will either continue to progress or we will retrograde. We cannot remain stationary. Our challenge then is clear — Let us direct our energies toward making Johnson C. Smith University a better institution than we found upon arrival.

Lend a hand!

Jack S. Brayboy

Administration And Faculty

Come, my friends,
'Tis not too late to seek a newer world . . .
It may be we shall touch the Happy Isles,
And see the great Achilles, whom we knew. Though much is taken, much abides; and though we are not now that strength which in old days moved earth and heaven, that which we are, we are—
One equal temper of heroic hearts, made weak by time and fate, but strong in will to strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

Dr. Winson R. Coleman
A.B., Penn College; A.M., Haverford College;
Ph.D., University of Chicago

The celebration of the centennial year in the life of an educational institution is an especially appropriate time to comment on the meaning of education. Great teachers, in the tradition of Socrates and Plato, have maintained that the acquisition of knowledge is a process, essentially dialectic in nature, but that truth is absolute and eternal. In this light education appears to be the product resultant from the discovery or recovery of eternal verities.

The phenomenal growth of all fields of knowledge, particularly in the recent past, has made it appear that "knowing itself is a process, not a product". Even in the slowly expanding fields the "facts" of many become the "myths" of tomorrow. It follows that the adequately prepared students must have both the grasp of subject-matter essential to their vocations and the conceptual bases by which they can adjust to the continued obsolescence of what they have learned. A century of progress at Johnson C. Smith University has made us increasingly aware of our obligation to make this kind of education available to all of our students.

Mr. J. Arthur Twitty
B.S., Johnson C. Smith University; M.A., New York University

It is a great honor to bring you greetings as we celebrate our centennial. I congratulate all of you who are sharing in the academic awards of the University. I firmly hope that you will tune your lives in on the wave lengths of high destiny and move with diligence into the front ranks of those who are helping to make the future beautiful and worth living. The arms of the world are open for those who will be prepared for her embrace. So as we move into the next century of progress I would like to leave with you this thought by Charles Kingsley.

Mr. Moses S. Belton
B.S., B.D., Johnson C. Smith University; M.A., Columbia University

Congratulations to the Editor and Staff upon completion of the largest, most comprehensive, and one of the best volumes of The Bull since the publication of the first issue in 1928. In this massive task you have portrayed the life of the Johnson C. Smith University family with remarkable success.

The theme for this issue suggests that progress in the first one hundred years of the University has been similar to one climbing two parallel sidepieces without the luxury of foot supports for his attempts to step upward. Indeed the history of the Institution has been one of vision, faith, dedication and determination, without adequate means or facilities to challenge the full range of the abilities and potentials of all those who studied in its hallowed halls. Its sons and daughters received knowledge, self-respect, and confidence in God and self. They justified, to a great degree, the sacrifices which its founders and builders made and the devotion which they had to keep the lamp of knowledge burning.

The next century promises to be more exciting, more demanding, more challenging and more competitive. More and more trained minds, updated moral values and dedication to meaningful group living, will still be needed.

May JCSU ever hold high "the light of truth and right," send forth its "constant ray and let it beam with steadfast gleam to lead us o'er Life's way."

STATEMENT FOR THE UNIVERSITY BULL

A century of progress has hewn a heritage of greatness which is our legacy from benevolent founders, dedicated scholars and arduous laborers — inspired of great dreams, envisioned in profound thought and nurtured in excellence. As Johnson C. Smith University, and we, her loyal sons and daughters stand upon the pinnacle of this historical moment; we look back upon the stairs of time and reflect whereupon her foot has trod with heads bowed in gratitude and reverence for what this day has brought us. Yet in the grandeur of her heritage, only we, who now bear the mantle, can give validity and immortality to that heritage. For our beloved institution in the grandeur of her greatness has not reached the zenith of her potential; and the quality of the present is the vital life line which will determine if the past one hundred years is but a prelude to a more excellent future. Thus, this centennial summons each of us to respond to this challenge with creativity and intellect — dream great, think profound, strive with dedication, act nobly and achieve with excellence.

Sincerely,

This first century of service by this Institution has caught glimpses of many kinds of hopes, aspirations and dreams. There has also been the opportunity for the littleness and greatness of the inhabitants to be exhibited.

As this great period ends, this should mark a continuous and greater climb up these stepless stairs. Coupled with this should be the great challenge for a spirit of rededication of all who teach and all who learn to work for opportunities that will make for life's greatest fulfillment in the process of human development.

The doors are now open and those who wish can enter through careful self-analysis and sincere self-application.

Mrs. Owena H. Davis

The enrollment for the winter semester of 1966-67 shows 587 women as a part of Johnson C. Smith's record number of students. This is a vital statistic to be added to the growth in number of women students since 1932 when women were admitted to the Junior and senior classes of the Liberal Arts Department. The progress of women at the University has been comparable to the role of the college woman in America. With the advances in the fields of science, industry, government, and education, Johnson C. Smith University women graduates have advanced in these fields. Women of the University are now aware of changes in attitudes toward the higher education of women, and in their growing desire for recognition of the equal status of women in the working world, press zealously to excel in such a world as this.

Congratulations to this centennial class and particularly to the women who represent thirty-four years of advancement in the education of women at Johnson C. Smith University.

Smith University approaches the celebration of its Centennial Anniversary we reflect, the constant stride of a hundred years toward the maximum of achievement in higher education in the Christian tradition. In climbing the stepless stairs during the first one hundred years, its scholars have set and reached goals and objectives, reached gratifying achievements, and fulfilled many dreams which have become realities of today.

We shall begin anew our climb toward the bi-centennial with greater and higher aspirations, with stronger determination, and dreams in a greater abundance.

WHO IS EDUCATED?—There are five tests of the evidence of education—correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue; refined and gentle manners, the result of fixed habits of thought and action; sound standards of appreciation of beauty and of worth, and a character based on those standards; power and habit of reflection; efficiency or the power to do.

DIVISION I — THE HUMANITIES

Dr. Winson R. Coleman, Sr.
Acting Chairman of Division

Mrs. Inez M. Parker,
Head of English Dept.

This division, always a major wheel in the liberal arts program, took on a more vivid image when the Kennedys went to the White House and highlighted the values of the humanities.

The Division has expanded and enriched its program. The English Department, one of the largest in The Division of Humanities has an acclaimed program that provides for two required service courses, rich programs in preparation for graduate study and teacher education.

Foreign Languages

The Department of Romance Languages has received a tremendous boost from the universal urgency for proficiency in the languages. Russian, Spanish, German, and French are very popular among the course offerings of this department.

French, the oldest on the list of offerings, still rates high in popularity. In addition to the majors in this language many other department majors choose a second major or minor in this language.

Music Majors

Mr. Christopher W. Kemp
Head of Department of Music
and Advisor to Majors

One of the oldest emphases of the University's training program has always been music. During the past decade, however, music has become one of the most rapidly developing departments in expansion and enrichment. The Choir has been acclaimed locally and nationally; the Band has taken on a new look and the course offerings have been greatly enriched.

DIVISION II — SOCIAL SCIENCES

Dr. Samuel W. Byuarm,
Chairman

Mr. Mack L. Davidson.

Current issues, not only locally, but also among developing nations, in the United Nations, and between major countries with conflicting ideologies, have stimulated the thirst for facts and wisdom in these areas. This quest for knowledge and wisdom in these areas has motivated scholarly pursuit in this Division. Some worthy Social Science majors have been recipients of notable grants for summer and winter study.

New job opportunities, specifically among major industries, and in the area of automation have engendered increased interest in the disciplines of the field of Economics. The stock market, once thought to be an area for the capitalists, has made inroads into the thinking masses. One result is greater participation in this department.

History

Social and political evolutions and even revolutions have arrested universal attention. The impact has been so dynamic it can be heard in street-corner conversations. "History repeats itself" is no longer considered a cliché but rather a reality. A quest for the why and the how has drawn majors from all departments to this area of study.

Political Science

Political Science

Once thought to be an area of concern for a group of electees and appointees, political science is currently of serious concern for the people. The enlightened voter must choose more wisely; The law-maker must be wise and judicious. "Not what my government can do for me but what I can do for my government" has gathered momentum since President Kennedy uttered it. Ambitious students are seeking to learn the techniques in greater numbers.

Social Science

At no period in the history of our country has the Social Science major been in greater demand. Subsidiary branches of the "Great Society" movement are presenting inescapable challenges to the knowledgeable students in the areas of human behavior and group responses to substandard influences.

The Department attempts to instill in those who concentrate in its discipline that advances in science and technology make comparable advances in creating new problems of a social nature with which they must be prepared to grapple.

DIVISION III — EDUCATION & PSYCHOLOGY

Henrietta Clyburn

A large number of Smith students engage in the Teacher-Education Program. The Division's objective is directed toward producing creative and competent teachers at the elementary and secondary school levels. A rich program for implementing its revised objectives is in process of execution.

Here is where the majority of Smith's students concentrate. Job opportunities made this traditionally so. Despite the changing tide many students feel more secure in training in areas where job opportunities are more readily available.

The athletic program has broadened to include more sports in which performance has merited considerable commendation.

Psychology

Another field that has tremendously widened its scope of interest and usefulness is the area of psychology. Mental hygiene and its effects upon individual and group behavior has never been more demanding than in this age of stress and pressures. Broken down into varied phases of specialization, it recommends itself to an increasing number of serious minded students. Job opportunities in this area are increasing and the program is being enriched commensurate with the demand.

No man is an island, entire of itself;
Every man is a piece of the continent,
a part of the main.
If a clod be washed away by the sea,
Europe is the less, as well as if a promontory were, as well as if a manor of thy friend's or of thine own were.
Any man's death diminishes me because I am involved in mankind, and therefore
Never send to know for whom the bell
tolls;
It tolls for thee.

God made my cathedral
Under the stars;
He gave my cathedral
Trees for its spires;
He hewed me an altar
In the depth of a hill
He gave for a hymnal
A rock-bedded rill;
He voiced me a sermon
Of heavenly light
In the beauty around me—
The calmness of night;
And I felt as I knelt
On the velvet-like sod
I had supped of the Spirit
In the Temple of God.

The Seminary stands on the frontier of another century. It will continue to strive for excellence in life, education and character. The status quo is history, change itself has become the new routine, and an accelerated tempo of action has become the order of the day.

The responsibility of religion in any age, the Seminary feels, is to help man find some solid sense of meaning, of direction, of destiny, as a human being. The peculiar task of the Seminary, the church, and the ministry is to help man find the path in the world that leads to his fulfillment as a child of God, however obscure, tangled, and tortured that way may be.

Cordially yours,

Edwin Thompkins

The A. O. Steele Community Leadership Training Class In Religious Education

Co-Founder
Prof. W. E. Bluford

Co-Founder
Dr. A. O. Steele (Deceased)

Instructor
Rev. R. Worsley

The Community Leadership Training Class in Religious Education was organized in 1948 as a community service of the University by Dr. A. O. Steele and Professor W. E. Bluford. Dr. Steele taught the class for eighteen years.

Ministers, Sunday School teachers and persons interested in the study of the Bible from all of the major denominations have made up the membership of the class since its organization. Many of those in attendance have attributed their advancement and promotions in the various areas of religious education to the institution received in this class. Former members of the class are nationwide.

In the early years, the members of the class, as an expression of their appreciation, presented Dr. Steele with some small token at the annual closing exercises. It soon became apparent to the members that these tokens were embarrassing to him, therefore the class, on his suggestion, began making gifts to the University. Among the gifts to the University is the lecturn in the Chapel and the set of maps in room 118 of the Theological Building. Too, the class made the first contribution towards the purchase of a public address system for the Auditorium.

In recent years the class has made possible the A. O. Steele Prize in Religious Education of twenty-five dollars which is presented annually to the freshman making the highest record in Religious Education for the year. When Dr. Steele passed in January, 1966, the class voted unanimously to create a permanent fund for this purpose. This was done by giving to the University $600.00. The interest on this $600.00 will make the prize possible down through the years. It is an expression of the class' love and appreciation for Dr. Steele.

At the beginning of the Drive to raise the $600.00, it was announced that the names of all class members and friends who contributed $10.00 or more toward the effort would have their names placed on a plaque. This plaque was presented to Johnson C. Smith University on May 12, 1966 as a memorial to Dr. Steele and as a record of the patrons of the A. O. Steele Fund.

In March of 1966 Reverend Raymond Worsley was appointed as the teacher of this class. The present officers of the class are the Reverend R. C. Jones, president; Miss Sovella McComb, secretary and Mrs. Pearl Ferguson, Treasurer. At present fifty-five persons, representing every area of religious education and all walks of life, are enrolled in this class.

HOMECOMING

When friends are met o'er merry cheer,
And lovely eyes are laughing near,
And in the goblet's bosom clear,
The cares of day are drown'd;
When puns are made, and bumpers quaff'd,
And wild wit shoots his roving shaft,
And Mirth his jovial laugh has laugh'd,
Then is our banquet crowned.

When glees are sung, and catches troll'd,
And bashfulness grows bright and bold,
And beauty is no longer cold,
And age no longer dull;
When chimes are brief and cocks do crow,
To tell us it is time to go,
Yet how to part we do not know,
Then is our feast at full.

Sir Walter Scott

HOMECOMING

One of the most vivacious and festive all-campus activities at Johnson C. Smith University is Homecoming. It combines two stressed currents in the Institution's non-academic program - the athletic and the cultural. Controlled pep rallies, coronation of queens, annual football classics, alumni and friends thronging the campus to fellowship, to reminisce on water that has fallen over the dam and to cheer the Golden Bulls, characterize Homecoming at Johnson C. Smith University.

One predominant trait of Smithites which has stood out since 1872 has been their inextricable affection for their Alma Mater. This attachment drew them back to the campus long before the returning became an organized activity.

The activity is primarily student-alumni centered and furnishes the Queen City with a three-day festival of Social and Athletic activities.

To My Alma Mater

Johnson C. Smith University

There tow'ring lordly toward the asure sky
Bequeathing grace upon her spreading lands,
Compelling reverence of a mighty host,
In dignity, our Alma Mater stands,
Still spreading truths and pointing men to God,
Erasing lore of ignorance and need,
Implanting deep within her children's hearts
Sound principles, enabling them to lead
Their fellowmen to better ways of life.

Conceived in visions by great men who heard
The long unheeded need the freemen cried,
She has withstood her trials and grown, despite
The ebbs and flows of life's unsteady tide.
Through long, enduring years she still has stood
A mighty rampart, symbol of light
Which yet shall dawn, a light of hope,
A light of opportunity and right.
A guiding tower, our Alma Mater stands.

Homecoming At Smith

Homecoming on any campus is a heart-warming experience but on Smith's campus it is something very special. The re-union of age and youth—their greetings, their caresses, their hand-grips when hearts are too full to speak, electrify the atmosphere.

Streamers, streamers everywhere and over head floating the Gold and Blue. The Blue symbolizing Piety, Sincerity, Fidelity, and Loyalty and the clothing of the gods, combined with Gold symbolizing Purity, Dignity, Wisdom, and Glory, waft on every breeze that blows the exultation of youth and the sage aspirations of age.

Years Come and Go

Years are coming, years are going, creeds may change
and pass away,

But the light of love is growing stronger, surer,
day by day.

Be ye as the light of morning, like the beautiful
dawn unfold,

With your radiant lives adorning all the world
in hues of gold.

Selfish claims will soon no longer raise their harsh sounds,

For the law of love will conquer, bursting hatred's narrow bounds.

Human love will spread a glory filling men with
gladsome mirth,

Songs of joy proclaim the glory of a fair,
transfigured earth.

May Day At Johnson C. Smith University

This ancient spring festival, featuring the Maypole dance, the crowning of the May Queen, and the gathering of spring flowers, was loosely observed on the campus from 1932, when women were first admitted, until 1947 when the Student Christian Association was organized.

In 1947, May Day activities became a featured activity of the Student Christian Association and gradually became an annual classic. It was dear to the heart of Dr. A. O. Steele, organizer and advisor to the Student Christian Association.

A verdant arena under the blue spruce or the ancient oaks, provided scenic settings for this colorful pageant. The charm and grace of the regal procession, the pomp and beauty of the crowning of the May Queen are balanced by the skillful athletic stunts and creative dances presented for the pleasure of the Queen. The activity is highlighted by the presentation of lovely gifts befitting a queen.

Following the formal program this all-student activity relaxes into a rustic celebration "on the green" with hot-dogs and cold drinks for all. The May Day activities are concluded with an "at-ease", all-student dance.

The University Memorial Union

The University Memorial Union is one of the important facilities making up the physical structure of the University campus. It was designed and constructed to fill a need in the total education of the student. In education and training it is expected to represent an extension of the formal training and instructional program of the classroom. At the same time it seeks to enhance the recreational, social and cultural aspects of our total educational effort.

University Memorial Union

L. A. Warner, Director

The Union engages in various supportive and supplementary programs designed to make the student more productive in the classroom, as well as a more effective social being.

Our doors are open to the three major campus groups: students, faculty, and administration as a "campus center" in an effort to bring about a unified whole.

May I extend personal congratulations to this year's graduates, also to the EDITOR and his Staff for this magnificent publication.

UNION COMMITTEES

UNION GOVERNING BOARD

Seated, Left to Right: Kennan Smith, Jeannie Frazier, Rev. Calvin A. Hood, chairman; and Miss Shirley Powell. Standing, Left to Right: J. A. Twitty, Matthew Green, Jr., Henry L. Finckney, and Kenneth R. Davis.

Under the competent leadership of Mr. Warner, the Union Staff is adequately organized to provide a variety of cultural and recreational activities.

The Governing Board, composed of both faculty and student members, plans and regulates the operational machinery of the Union.

ART COMMITTEE

Marsha Liston, Chairman

Among the subsidiary groups organized for specific functions is the Cultural Affairs Committee. A subdivision of this committee is the Art Committee which has as its objective to stimulate an interest in, and appreciation for the aesthetic.

The committee attempts to achieve its objective through art exhibits, demonstration lectures, and other artistic audiovisual aids.

CULTURAL AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Marsha Liston, Chairman

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Evelyn Gentry, Chairman

This committee plans and directs social functions to be staged in the Union. Among its functions is the planning of the all-student activities. Specifically, the fall and spring "Blue and Gold Formal" makes strenuous demands on the ingenuity and creativity of this committee

DANCE COMMITTEE

Joyce Peters, Chairman

Art as expressed by the dance is the specific interest of this group. Creative dancing is their specialty but they are also gifted in the dance as performed on the modern ballroom floor.

FILM COMMITTEE

Many valuable moments of entertainment have been provided through the efforts of this committee. Both recreational and educational films have been presented by this discerning group.

Kennan Smith, Chairman

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Theodore Holland, Chairman

The campus is kept alerted on Union activities through the Publicity and Public Relations Committee. This is done to a large extent through the "SUB" release — the official voice of the committee.

HOUSE RULES COMMITTEE

Kennan Smith
Chairman

As a valuable arm of the Governing Board of the Union, this committee keeps constantly before the students "the building beautiful" and clean concept. It also urges the need for acceptable use of the Union facilities.

RECREATION COMMITTEE

Albert Jordan, chairman

Catering to the recreational activities revolving around the Union, this committee serves to enhance the growth of the well-rounded student. It provides opportunities for pleasant experiences in table tennis, pool, chess, and outdoor activities.

MUSIC COMMITTEE

Patricia Patterson
chairman

Serving to provide a pleasant atmosphere in the Union, the Music Committee approves the music that flows throughout the building.

Halloween Dance

The Halloween Dance is the grotesque version of the Masquerade Ball. Much fun is had by all in pretense and make-believe.

BLUE AND GOLD FORMAL

"The Blue and Gold Formals", staged twice annually in the spring and in the fall, are by far the most glamorous all-student dances on the campus. For this, everything must be acceptable to the best taste in polite society.

Santa Claus also takes part.

Couples dance to the soft notes of Johnny Holloway and the Hi-Tones.

"May we have some more punch, please?"

Organizations

During the pioneer years of the Institution, the urgency for immediate relief from despair and the maturity of the students motivated a serious approach to the training program and made negligible the provisions for the "trills" and "fads" of the training program. As the years passed, however, the tension became less rigid, the student body younger, and the yen for recreational activities increased.

Many of the organizations which began operation during the formative years were largely out-growths of the academic program. There were four flourishing literary societies: The Mattoon, the Clarisophic, the Johnson, and the Douglass. There were also three reading circles: The Non Forma, the Literary Research, and the Olympian. The Smith Debating Club and the Christian Leadership Preparatory Club came later.

"March X" was one of the earliest of student functions. It combined music, art, literature, oratory, and social festivities. This activity was truly a rare exhibition of culture, charm, fine literary tastes and the superlative in social graces.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Installment of the first Student Government at Johnson C. Smith University was effected in the fall of 1944 by the Executive Vice President, Dr. Hardy Liston. The following are charter members of the government: William Davis, President; Henry H. Holden, Vice President; Winona Lee, Secretary; James W. Smith, Assistant Secretary; Joseph Maxwell, Treasurer; Darius L. Swann, Chaplain; Gladys Coles, Allestine D. Sparks, John McHugh, Raymond Mitchell, William Bowers, Margaret Keller, and Eva Green. Allestine D. Sparks became the second president and the first woman in that executive role in 1945-1946.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Matthew J. Green
President

The Student Government is dependent upon the effectiveness of its participation in the attainment of the goals of the Institution. The Student Government includes in its program a wide variety of concerns touching upon all areas which affect the college community. The extent to which the individual Student Government devotes its time to any particular area of interest depends on the needs of the campus but the Student Government is constantly aware of the full scale of campus community life and devotes itself to participation in the decisions made at every level, subject to the limitations of time and personnel available, and within its constitutional jurisdiction.

Matthew J. Green, Jr.

James L. Green
Vice-President

James L. Green, familiarly known to his peers on the gridiron as "Bull Green" is Vice President of the Student Government. His energy as a "Golden Bull" is transferred from the Bull Pen to the machinery of the student organizations with which he affiliates. Especially is this true with the Student Government. No one will forget that "Bull" has been around here.

Installation of Student Government Officers

Presidential Assistants

These individuals assist the Student Body President in carrying out policies of the Student Government.

Judiciary Committee

The Judiciary Committee of the Student Government was established to adjudicate conflicts between students and organizations.

Off-Campus Affairs Committee

The Off-Campus Affairs Committee is designed to bridge the gap between campus and non-campus students. This committee functions to assist the problems of off-campus students and is also designed to establish rapport between these students and the administration.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

William Gaither, President

In 1947, the Y.M.C.A., the Religious Education Club, and the Young Women's Missionary Society were merged into one all-student volunteer religious organization and was called the Student Christian Association, under the guidance of Dr. A. O. Steele. The consolidated organization functions in the interest of the total religious life and activities for all students, including those of the Seminary and Religious Education majors. It also includes the work of the Student Volunteer Movement and is under the direction of the Religious Education Department.

Johnson C. Smith Women Spotlight Alumnae, in Tenth Annual Program

February 27-March 4, 1967, the young women of Johnson C. Smith University sponsored their tenth annual program with the spotlight on the University women. For this centennial year, the chosen theme is: THE ROLE OF JOHNSON C. SMITH WOMEN IN THE NEXT CENTURY.

Two prominent alumnae were consultants during the week. Dr. Carol DeLoatch Witherspoon, class of 1956, Assistant Professor of Anesthesiology at Temple University School of Medicine and a member of the Staff of the Temple University Hospital addressed the student assembly on March 1.

On Friday, March 3, the Assembly speaker was another prominent alumna, Mrs. Winona Lee Fletcher, class of 1947, Associate Professor and Director of the Little Theater at Kentucky State College.

Other features of the week's program was a Charm Clinic, February 28, by Mrs. DeVera Edwards, Trade Relations Coordinator for Artra Cosmetics.

A panel discussion on PRESENT CHALLENGES FOR THE EDUCATED WOMAN during the Assembly on February 27, featured the following as discussants: Misses Julie Brown, Denise McDaniel, Tommye Martin, Devenure Nivens, and Mrs. Lorraine Rice.

Liston Hall House Council

The Women of Liston Hall seek to make their living experience a happy, successful, and educational one through the use of an organization known as the Liston Hall House Council. The main function of the Council is to be responsible for planning cultural and social activities, such as fireside chats, parties, and teas within the Residence Hall.

This organization also interprets and influences the enforcement of regulations that will promote all phases of dormitory life in order to enrich student living.

The International Relations Club

This club has a very rich and far-reaching program. It not only attempts to keep alive the spirit of unity and understanding among various ethnic groups on the campus but also reaches out to local and national organizations and conferences that are concerned with the spirit of good will among men.

Men's Senate

The Men's Senate is composed of young men, representing the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes of the university. The purpose of such a senate is to coordinate programs for the campus, as well as the off-campus men.

This group introduced itself for the first time when it proved it could "sure make a good cup of coffee", in December of 1966. Thus, through the use of a "Coffee Hour" the senate sent Christmas greetings to the Smith family.

On January 26, 1967, a Men's Retreat was held in the main lounge of the Student Union building. With Mrs. Neal as the keynote speaker, instructors and students involved in group discussions, and President Perry as the after dinner speaker. The following aims were accomplished:

- To develop an educational atmosphere;

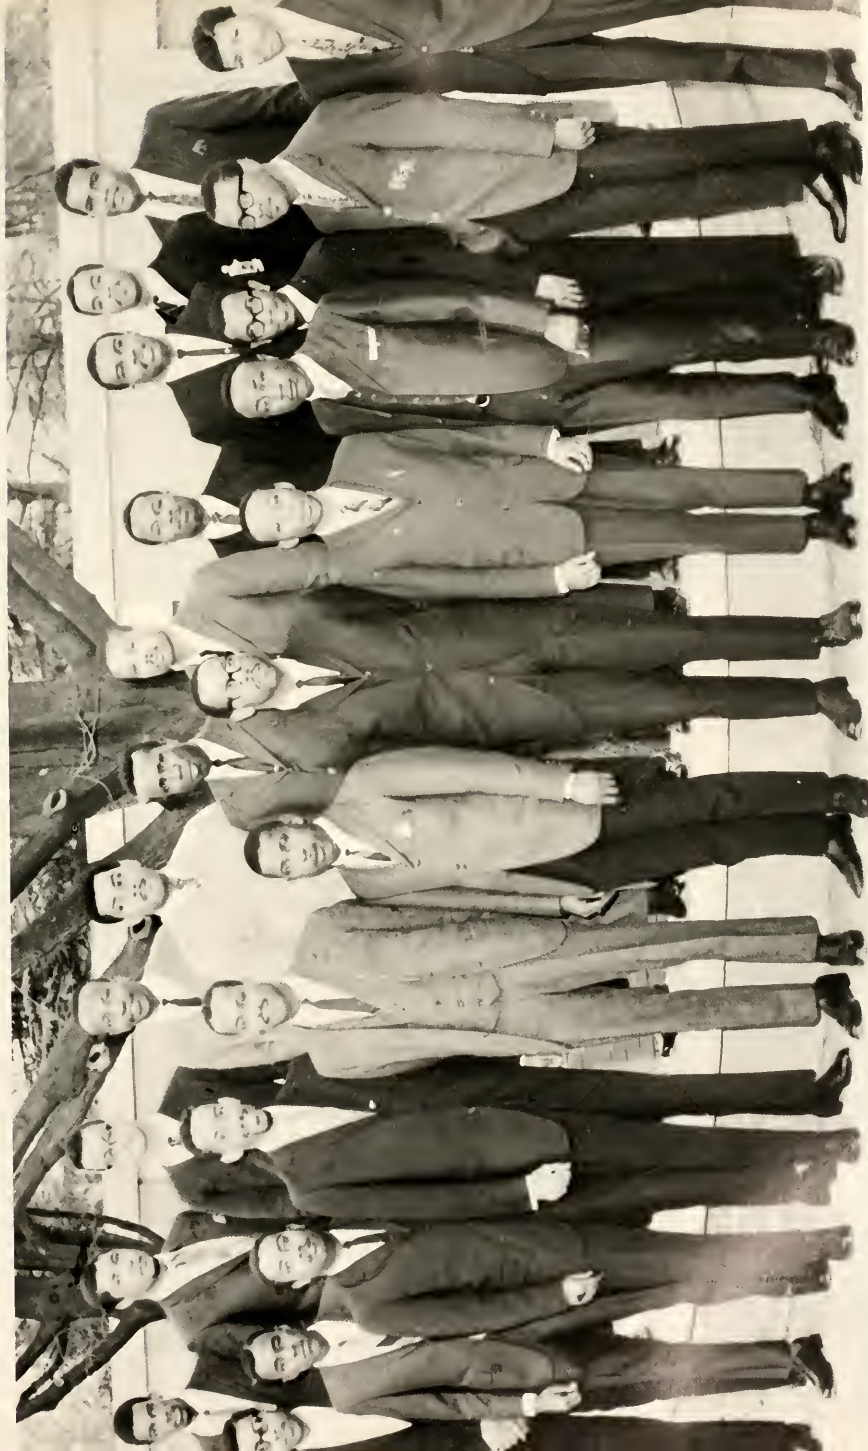

- To develop a better relationship between the students and faculty;
- and,

- To make the student aware of his personal responsibilities.

Since most colleges have senates, it is the future goal of this senate to develop relations with other colleges.

Foreign Contacts And Exchange Program

In the rivalry of nations; in this contest to win the respect and esteem of the undeveloped regions beyond, America has devised plans for lending a helping hand "across the pond."

In this mad contest for the affections and confidences of the regions beyond, American activities involve missionary and military operations, the Peace Corps, Operation Crossroads Africa, Foreign Study Exchanges, Erection and Execution of Educational Institutions, lenient Foreign Trade and Gift Policies, and many others designed to impress these regions with the beneficent virtues of Christian Democracy. Many Smith students and alumni have become conscientiously engaged in these activities of America's Outreach Policy.

In addition to student activities, told in pictures and narrative on these pages, the following alumni might be mentioned as representative of alumni foreign activity:

Dr. James Egert Allen — India and Italy

Attorney Edward Dudley — Ambassador to Liberia

Dr. Caesar R. Blake — To study and write — Italy and England

Dr. Ernest C. Grigg, Jr. — Cameroon and Yaounde
Rev. Bryant George — Japan: Industrial Evangelism

Dr. Matthew J. Whitehead — Teacher Education in Nigeria

Rev. and Mrs. D. L. Swann — Missions in India

There are, at present, more than a dozen Smith students abroad with the Peace Corps and others studying in prestige colleges and universities. As many or more alumni are spreading good will and studying the cultures of other nations with a view of getting to know each other better.

FOREIGN CONTACTS

June, 1965

Miss Barbara Ferguson '63 is interviewed by the editor of the government newspaper, Omukulembeze, while vacationing in Uganda. Her vacation also took her to Nigeria, where she visited the sister of Simon Jiboku '63 who is attending the University of Ife in Ibadan. #### FASCINATING SUMMER IN AFRICA

"Africa is the continent dormant, in the minds of many people, but really it is a lighted stick of dynamite, ready to explode and shock many of us.

Operation Crossroads Africa is an organization founded by a Negro Presbyterian minister, Dr. James H. Robinson. Started in 1956, its purpose is to introduce young Americans to Africa and her people. This past summer, Crossroads Africa made its seventh expedition to Africa, and I am pleased to have been one of the 300 participants . . . "

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

America's biggest business, Education, has taken long strides ahead in bridging the gulf which makes strangers of segments of the American citizenry. Nurturing the concept that interested persons who study and fellowship together tend to realize that basic human yens are universal, schools of higher learning have sanctioned the exchange policy — exchange of faculty and students — exchange of educative experiences and facilities.

Many of these exchange experiences have engendered an awakening to the fact that people are more similar than dissimilar — that all are seeking security and happiness; that all desire a sense of belonging and opportunity for self-realization and expression.

This awakening, alone, is ample justification for the exchange policy. Johnson C. Smith University supports the policy and considers the gains derived as enrichments of its program of expansion.

In the meantime, young women were enroute to Charlotte. They were greeted by the President of the University, and the secretary to the Director of Public Relations.

Johnson C. Smith University co-eds board the Eastern Airline jet en route to Beaver College, Jenkintown, Pennsylvania. Here they attended classes in the same manner as their counterparts who took their places at dear "ole" JCSU for one week.

Exchange students were given a glimpse of what the new library will look like after completion.

Zeta Phi Beta .....	Service, Sisterhood, and Scholarship
Phi Beta Sigma .....	Culture for Service; Service for Humanity

During the twenties, organizations which were strictly social in purpose made their advent on the campus. These organizations offered an outlet for the human yen for compatible companionship and showmanship in closely knit brotherhood groups.

Four fraternities first made their appearance in the following order: Omega Psi Phi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, and Phi Beta Sigma.

After the Institution became coeducational sororities made their advent in the following order: Delta Sigma Theta, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Zeta Phi Beta, and Sigma Gamma Rho.

Pan Hellenic Council

There is very little of the idealistic that can be realized individually. Man has recognized this law of living and turns to the group in his seekings for aid to perpetuate, to uphold and to honor a personal ideal or a group of ideals. It is this group aid that the fraternal group strives to render.

To this end the Pan-Hellenic Council was organized on the campus in 1929. It has since its incipency endeavored to carry out its purposes and has been a constructive force in regulating fraternal activities for the best interest of all concerned specifically to make for better scholarship and campus living.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was founded on January 16, 1920 by five young women at Howard University. It was the idea of these founders that the sorority would reach college women in all parts of the country who were sorority-minded and desired to follow the ideals and objectives of finer womanhood; scholarship, service, and sisterly love on which Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was founded.

Zeta Phi Beta and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity were the first official Greek letter sister and brother organizations.

Zeta Phi Beta was the first Greek letter college sorority to organize in Africa. More than 250 undergraduate and graduate chapters are divided into nine regions in the United States and Africa.

Its membership includes women in various professions and the sorority gives services through legislation, voluntary services, scholarships, charitable services, and other worthwhile activities.

Lyceum Programs and Features 1966-1967

The Lyceum Committee of Johnson C. Smith University, under the chairmanship of Mr. J. Arthur Twitty, went all out this year to assemble the finest types of personages in a variety of fields to enhance its centennial lecture and art series.

To do this within a specified budget was a herculean task but it has been done in grand style. To the Committee—our standing ovation.

The Three Tabards of Shakespeare

TAMING OF THE SHREW

The narrative, written by Mr. Lawrence, highlighted the emotional impact of each of the scenes portrayed."

The Symphonette

Mr. Martin Bellar
Director

"This chamber sized orchestra of 25 players has been performing the finest small symphony orchestra music about the Carolinas for the past years. The reception has been enthusiastic wherever it has appeared. The musical treasures, very rarely performed otherwise, offered the student body the finest of Mozart, Beethoven, Bloch, Greig and others.

The orchestra is under the direction of Martin Bellar and the piano soloist is Anita Bultman."

The group was enthusiastically acclaimed by a large audience at its recent concert.

The Don Shirley Trio

Don Shirley

"One of the most brilliant artists and exciting personalities to illumine the world of music in America is the young pianist, Don Shirley.

Heading his own Trio, (piano, cello and bass) he is a many-faceted artist whose musical creativity has skyrocketed him to high praise and recognition in the music world."

The creativity of this trio was especially satisfying to a large enthusiastic audience.

Pauline Frederick

"Pauline Frederick United Nations correspondent for NBC News, is a familiar figure where international statesmen gather.

All of her talks deal with national and international events based on her world travels as a correspondent for the National Broadcasting Company. The UN is her best and she includes her experiences in meeting world developments in her daily assignments."

The large crowd was abundantly rewarded for waiting for this knowledgeable and famed speaker. She spoke to an audience that became increasingly charmed by her vast knowledge and insight.

Harry Reasoner

"Harry Reasoner — Roving correspondent for CBS television news and one of America's most respected journalists, combines a keen news sense with an ability to string words into cogent sentences that are refreshingly brisk, concise and slightly satirical."

His lecture subject: "Citizenship and Cynicism," was well received by a large crowd of receptive students, faculty, alumni, and friends.

Betty Allen

Betty Allen, Mezzo Soprano — Proclaimed "one of the most endearing and powerful voices of the century," the world-renowned Ohio-born singer is a favorite with such leading conductors as Bernstein, Stokowski, Munch, Leinsdorf, Dorati, and Solti, as well as with audiences throughout the world.

Dr. Martin Luther King

"We shall overcome"

One of the highlights of the Centennial Lecture series was experienced Wednesday, September 21 when Dr. Martin Luther King, Nobel Peace prize winner, and founder of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, held an audience of thousands entranced with his doctrine of "Love or perish".

Speaking extensively on the nation's two greatest domestic problems, "racial injustice and poverty", Dr. King declared these problems to be paramount because "our nation suffers from a kind of poverty of spirit. We have allowed the within of our lives to be absolved by the without, our mentality to absolve our morality, and our technology to absolve our theology."

Dr. King cast a hypnotic spell over his vast audience and they could have stayed all night.

But now our sleep has fled and our dream is over, and it is no longer dawn.

The noontide is upon us and our half waking has turned to fuller day, and we must part.

If in the twilight of memory we should meet once more, we shall speak again together and you shall sing to me a deeper song.

And if our hands should meet in another dream we shall build another tower in the sky.

THE ALUMNI AND THE TRUSTEE BOARD OF JOHNSON C. SMITH UNIVERSITY

The Trustee Board of Johnson C. Smith University has always been an esteemed, august body. Aside from the bond of security which the Board throws around the Institution, its presence on the campus always lends an air of respect and dignity. For alumni, especially, it is considered a distinct honor to be numbered in its membership.

Robert P. Wyche '77, became a member of the Board in 1891 and served his Alma Mater in that capacity until 1938. He was the President of the group from 1897 to 1938. In 1960, C. A. Johnson '04, became the second alumnus to be named President of this Board.

Dr. John M. Gaston who served the Institution and Board from 1910 to 1938 was succeeded by Dr. Walter L. Moser as Secretary-Treasurer of Johnson C. Smith University and a member of the Board.

DR. MOSER SUCCEEDS DR. J. M. GASTON

Dr. Johnson, President of the Board

Dr. Walter L. Moser, Stated Clerk of the Presbytery of Pittsburgh and former President of the Board, was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of Johnson C. Smith University at its Commencement meeting. The position was left vacant by the death of Dr. J. M. Gaston in March.

Dr. C. A. Johnson, Sr., '04, a retired supervisor of the Columbia (South Carolina) School System, was elected President of the Board of Trustees.

Ray S. Hoffman, Pittsburgh, Pa. was elected Chairman of the Executive Committee, and Vance H. Chavis '29, Principal of the Lincoln Junior High School in Greensboro, North Carolina, was elected Alumni Representative to the Board at this same meeting. Dr. Lewis K. Downing, whose term as Alumni Representative to the Board expired in June, was elected a permanent member on the Board. Dr. Downing is Dean of the School of Engineering and Architecture at Howard University in Washington, D. C.

D. W. L. Moser, Secretary-treasurer of the Board of Trustees, brings greetings from the Board at the Alumni Banquet.

Dr. C. A. Johnson, newly elected President of the Board of Trustees of the University. Dr. Johnson is the first Negro to be elected president of the Board of Trustees since the late Dr. R. P. Wyche. Dr. Wyche served as president from 1897 to 1938.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Edward H. Brown, Recording Secretary for the General Alumni, recorded at the beginning of the minutes of that organization, the following statement: "The sixty-six annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Johnson C. Smith University was called to order by the First Vice President, C. E. Boulware, in the assembly hall of the Carnegie Library, May 17, 1943." On the basis of this statement, therefore, the graduates of the institution may be said to have begun functioning as an organization in 1877. Although no records are available to substantiate this contention, records are available that show that by 1888 the Alumni Association was sponsoring a large scale activity which had, by that time, gained momentum and respectability. The Junior Prize Oratorical Contest was won that year by J. C. Johnson. It had become an annual event and eleven other men had won the prize by 1899.

Among the early secretaries mentioned in a historical report to the General Alumni Association by Secretary Edward H. Brown in 1944 were: I. D. Davis, W. E. Partee, J. M. Boygen, J. C. Johnson, A. U. Frierson, P. G. Drayton, and C. H. Shute. Authentic records substantiate the fact that J. D. Martin became treasurer in 1893 and held the position for thirty-five years, relinquishing it only in 1928 when he accepted the principalship at Brainerd Institute.

He was succeeded by W. H. Stinson who held that office until 1943.

The University Catalog began publishing a list of Alumni officers in 1913 which was prefaced by this statement, "This Association meets annually during the Commencement season." From this date forward, authentic records are available.

With the passing of the years the graduating classes became larger representing wide and scattered geographical areas. This made local and area chapters necessary, as exponents of the General Association.

More than four thousand graduates and students are potential members of the General Alumni Association. By far the majority of these are making honorable contributions to the American way of life. The medical field has been greatly extended by them; the Ministry knows hundreds of them by their noble and faithful works. The mail service, the field of education, law, business, diplomatic service, and others can attest to the inestimable value of their services.

Among the early local chapters were: The Charleston, South Carolina Chapter, The New York Club, The New Jersey, The Charlotte, The Asheville, and others whose records are not available to the Bull office.

GREENSBORO CHAPTER

Greensboro, North Carolina, Alumni Chapter in its initial meeting for the year had President R. P. Perry as its guest. The meeting was held Sunday afternoon, September 25, 1960 at the St. James Church in Greensboro. L-R, front — Mrs. Ellen Martin Morrison '54, Mrs. Hyla Bynum Cundiff '48, Vance H. Chavis '29, president of the Chapter; Dr. Perry, Mrs. Clara Foust Morehead '42, Chapter secretary. Back row — G. D. Tillman '25, Dr. J. T. Douglas '27, pastor of St. James Church; E. L. Price '37, Edward M. Townes, Jr. '31, C. C. Watkins, supervisor Guilford County Public Schools; Newton L. Gregg, '27, District Manager, North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. Others present at the meeting were the Rev. John Greely Corry '54 and Mrs. Nancy Greene Corry '54; Moses S. Belton, Director of Public Relations and Joseph A. Gaston, Promotional Officer of the University.

Motivated by the enthusiastic leadership of Mr. Vance H. Chavis '29, the Alumni in Greensboro, North Carolina organized a local chapter on January 22, 1959. The following officers were elected: Vance H. Chavis, president; Paul Sandifer, vice president; Mrs. Clara Foust Moreland, secretary; Mrs. Lucille Long Fulmore, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Dusenberry Patterson, treasurer.

In addition to officers the charter members include: Newton L. Gregg '27, G. D. Tillman '25, Margaret L. Carr '46, Lucille L. Fulmore '44, Edward L. Price '37, Clarence C. Watkins '30, Edward M. Townes, Jr. '31, Antonio M. Hall '47, Frederick I. Quick '35, Lydia Lucille Leath '46, Ethel Leath McLarin '40, Miriam M. Leath '40, Julius T. Douglas '27, and Hyla Bynum Cundiff '48.

The Chapter's influence was immediately felt on the campus. The choir was outfitted with attractive new robes and presented in concert. Other tangible demonstrations of concern and interest have been made to the Institution. Mrs. Rose T. Yourse is the current enthusiastic president.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CHAPTER

Meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Claudius N. Shropshire in Los Angeles, California on July 10, 1964, Smith graduates met and organized the Southern California Alumni Chapter. The following officers were elected: Rev. Edward S. Williams, President; Dr. Christopher L. Taylor, Vice President; Mrs. Miriam H. Johnson, Recording Secretary; Dr. Claudius N. Shropshire, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Pliney W. Jenkins, Chaplain.

The Chapter made history by raising $1,565 for the Alumni Fund. In addition to the officers, other charter members are C. L. Taylor, J. W. Hill, J. H. Hargett, Lowlyn Funderburk, Jeather L. Dawkins, Roy J. E. Williams, Mrs. Miriam H. Johnson, Mr. Milton B. Meadows, Dr. Charles W. Ozier, Dr. Francis Hobson, Dr. and Mrs. Henry H. Holder, Mrs. Betty Shropshire Butler, Dr. Heneke R. Dudley, Mr. William L. Tyson, Mr. Justin H. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Blue, Mr. Henry Blanton, and Mrs. Sarah Ford Ferris.

The new Chapter has several big projects in the making.

Rev. Moses S. Belton represented the Institution at this meeting.

Both the Stokes are loyal alumni. Reverend Stokes attended Alumni Day conducted by the Seminary on March 6, 1967.

CHICAGO CHAPTER

High on the scale of the early, active and loyal chapters is the Chicago organization. In addition to sponsoring the University Choir in concerts, keeping the merits of the University alive in the minds of worthy students, making substantial gifts to the Institution, it won the United Negro College Fund Trophy for 1956.

Over an extended period, Beauregard L. Martin, "The Great Guy" and "Spark Plug" of the group, according to his colleagues, has been its efficient motivator and Secretary. The group has also been greatly motivated through the invaluable services and interest of Dr. L. A. Haywood — both as its efficient Treasurer and in other official capacities.

Some of the past Presidents of the Chicago Chapter who have kept it alive and on the go have been: R. M. Green, Walter E. Rogers, Ernest Fair, and Earl Corbin.

Dr. A. H. Prince, Evangelist for the Atlantic and Catawba Synods, was connected with the organization of the Chapter and was a motivation to the Chapter during the formative period.

March meeting of Chicago Chapter, held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Johnson Rogers.

NEW JERSEY CHAPTER

The New Jersey Chapter is among the early alumni groups to organize and pool their efforts for the mutual benefit of themselves and their Alma Mater. The New Jersey Chapter was organized in November of 1935 at which time President McCrorey represented the Institution and addressed the group at the home of Dr. C. O. Hilton. Dr. Gibbs Chisholm of the class of 1914 was elected President of the new Chapter.

The New Jersey Chapter has frequently cooperated with the New York Chapter and has been most active in sending worthy and talented students to the Institution. It is not uncommon for this chapter to discover and bring such students to the Institution.

This Chapter along with the New York Chapter has also cooperated with the Scotia Alumni Chapter in worthy projects.

Mr. Ernest Fletcher is currently President of this Chapter.

Members of the Executive Committee of the General Alumni Association held the fall meeting in Washington, D. C. on September 12.

CHARLESTON, SOUTH CAROLINA CHAPTER

The Charleston Chapter was among the earliest local chapters to be organized. It began functioning as a local chapter in 1920 with the following officers: Rev. J. R. Pearson, President; Mr. A. J. Clement, Treasurer; Rev. W. L. Metz, Secretary. It moved to have President Daniel J. Sanders picture placed among those of the pioneers hanging in the Biddle Memorial Hall. In 1927, it contributed $200 toward the installation of the Chime Clock in the tower of Biddle Memorial Hall. Had this Chapter made no further contribution to Presbyterianism than William L. Metz, "The Sage of Edisto Island" it would not have labored in vain.

Rev. McKinley Washington is the current President of the Chapter, and is making religious efforts to revive the interest and loyalty of all alumni in that vicinity.

NEW AND AREA CHAPTERS

Members of the Norfolk, Virginia Chapter (Tidewater Area).

Richmond, Virginia Alumni Chapter

Motivated by the demands of the United Negro College Fund, many Area and County Chapters developed in answer to the call of their Alma Mater. Among these are: The Morganton-Hickory-Lenoir Area Chapter, The Central Savannah River Area Chapter, The Southeastern Area Chapter in North Carolina, The Gaston County Chapter, The Cleveland County Chapter, The Cabarras County Chapter, The Piedmont Area Chapter in South Carolina.

These groups have pooled their interests and their means to help their Alma Mater gain "New Dimensions in Higher Education."

In South Carolina: Cheraw, Chester, Columbia, Hartsville, Rock Hill, and Sumter are new or revitalized Chapters whose services are now being felt in the interest of their Alma Mater.

This is likewise true of the Virginia Chapters in Danville, Martinsville, Norfolk and Richmond, and the North Carolina Chapters in Rocky Mount and Kinston, and the Detroit, Michigan Chapter.

PHILADELPHIA CHAPTER

Some of the members of the Philadelphia Alumni. 1965

The Philadelphia Chapter is among those most actively engaged in the support of their Alma Mater.

The Chapter, under the leadership of its energetic president, Mr. Vincent G. Mallory, presented the University Choir in concert in 1959.

In 1962, the Chapter won first place in the Philadelphia Inter-Alumni Council's United Negro College Fund. It contributed $1,118.00 to the Fund that year under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Ellis Davis, president.

In 1963, the Philadelphia Chapter published the first edition of its Newsletter, the "Span", to "cement the togetherness" among alumni. This activity was under the leadership of Mr. William H. Davis, who succeeded his wife as president.

Mr. John L. Holton, president in 1964 continued to nurture the lively spirit and activities of the organization. He is currently president of the Chapter.

NEW YORK ALUMNI CHAPTER

During the twenties when the Duke and Smith benefactions were making possible a richer program for Smith several local chapters emerged and older ones were revitalized. Among these local organizations which came to be during the twenties was the strong New York Club which began organizational plans in July of 1924 under the leadership of James Egert Allen '16. In August of 1924, a meeting was called at the home of Dr. Allen and the Chapter was formally organized. Dr. James D. Martin, Sr. and Dr. Pinkney W. Russell represented the Institution at this meeting. The Chapter met at the Randall Memorial Presbyterian Church on September 7, 1924 for the installation of officers. Dr. Allen was elected president and the Club was later incorporated under the New York State Laws. A Constitution was adopted with the following preamble: We, the graduates and former students of Johnson C. Smith University (formerly Biddle University) in order to provide for social and intellectual uplift of ourselves, to perpetuate the ideals of the Institution, and promote a closer cooperation between the Alumni and our Alma Mater, do establish this constitution for our self government.

After thirteen years, the Chapter had gained strength and popularity under the leadership of four presidents: Dr. Allen, Mr. Woodlyn, (Dr. Allen was again elected and served three years), Mr. Evans, and Mr. Pope was elected in 1937. Some of the later presidents have been: Richard R. Amos, Rev. Eugene Houston, Mrs. Wilma Lambert Holmes, Mrs. Connie W. Jenkins, Mrs. Gloria Peters Monz, Dr. Charles E. Bomar and Mr. William A. Smith.

Two of the most popular annual activities of the Chapter: The Freshman Scholarship Fund and the Annual Smith Ball. Currently, the New York Chapter is among the strongest chapters actively engaged in the support of the Institution.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The District of Columbia has attracted numerous graduates of the Institution who have distinguished themselves in a variety of fields: Law, Education, Medicine, Dentistry, Postal and Government Services and numerous other areas of vital worth to the general welfare.

One of the main interests of this Chapter is the Alumni Living Endowment Fund. It has, on several occasions, sponsored the University Choir. With Attorney Bomar president in 1959 the Choir was enthusiastically received at the 15th Street Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C.

A member of this chapter, Dr. Matthew J. Whitehead, initiated a special fund raising project which involved Smith Alumni insuring their own lives and making Smith beneficiary. He set the example when he insured his own life for a thousand dollars, made Smith beneficiary and filed the policy with the President of the Institution.

Dr. Whitehead continued the project during his two years abroad working at the Federal Teacher Training College in Lagos, Nigeria under the employment of the University of California.

Mr. Clarence W. R. Wade had a successful year as president and Dr. William L. West is the current president of the D. C. Chapter.

Attorney T. P. Bomar presents check (1.00 per year for each year he has been away from the University) for the would-be Class of 1912. (Because of additions to the curriculum there was no graduation in 1912.) Mr. Bomar also presented a check of $600.00 on behalf of the Washington Chapter for the Living Endowment Fund.

Dr. Reginaud A. Hawkins '48 was named "Dentist of the Year" by the National Dental Association during its annual meeting in Detroit, Michigan, July 15-19. Dr. Hawkins was so honored a year ago by the Old North State (North Carolina) Medical Society.

Doctor of the Year, Emery L. Rann '34, local physician, was named "Doctor of the Year" by the Old North State Medical Society at its annual meeting recently.

The Charlotte Chapter became an active and loyal supporter of the Institution during the twenties and soon became a model and motivation for other chapters. In close proximity with the Institution, it gained through constant contact and close observation, valuable knowledge of its basic needs. Its large and small courtesies, voluntarily rendered, have greatly enhanced the Institution's curricular and extracurricular programs. Among the smaller courtesies should be mentioned "The Coke-Bar" operated by the Chapter annually during Freshman Orientation Week and on Commencement day; off-campus entertainment of campus groups; cooperation with Homecoming activities; support of Founders Day Program; amicable movement among students on and off campus encouraging them to represent the school at its best. Among the larger functions may be mentioned the publication of the "Alumni Journal", May 1, 1937; Sponsoring Athletic Activities; presentation of a two thousand dollar check for the Living Endowment Fund in 1963; sponsoring an Honors Program, March 1, 1964, "Time to say—Thank you" to seven Smith Professors.

Among its hard-working presidents have been: Rev. Henry Alston, Dr. Edward H. Brown, Mrs. Evelyn Hill Maxwell, Mr. W. R. Oliver, Dr. E. L. Rann, Mr. Eddie Byers, Mr. Zoel S. Hargrave, Jr., Mrs. Mattie Solace Grier. Mrs. Lena Mills Sammons is currently the Chapter's most proficient president.

The oldest known living alumnus, Jacob Thompson, 1900, is a member of this Chapter.

The One Hundred Club

The One Hundred Club developed out of an informal gathering of men who met to eat, sip, and gab following Smith games.

During one of these gabbing sessions, "Jimmy" McKee conceived the idea that the group's sessions might take on a two-fold purpose — Profit as well as pleasure.

Members of this group customarily took turns in providing the "down-home" food which they relished and "Jimmy" would have it prepared. To this, "Jimmy" proposed that they organize for the purpose of mutual assistance with various fund-raising activities at Smith. After pro and con consideration of Jimmy's proposal, the group accepted it; limited their membership to twenty-five; assessed themselves a monthly dues of $5.00 each, and named the group The One Hundred Club in recognition of the one hundred years of Smith's services to humanity.

A very interesting fact about the Club is its cosmopolitan membership. Although the membership is predominantly of Smith Alumni, it includes men who did not go to Smith and men with a variety of vocational and professional interests.

Among the Club's activities are the following: An Annual Car-o-rama resulting in giving away a car during one of Smith's basketball games; solicitation of advertisements for the Homecoming Souvenir Program; Solicitation of donations for admissions to basketball games. In February the Club presented a check for $12,500 to the Centennial Fund which represents a $500 donation for each of its members.

The Club plans to continue in tact and has pledged an additional $12,500 to be paid off during the next five years.

THE CHRONICLE OF THE BULL-PEN

The "Bull-Pen" began its career on the campus in 1890 when interested Biddle men assembled and organized the first football team with L. B. Ellerson as Captain — according to "Ace" (T. M.) Martin, a Biddle athlete of considerable fame. After two years of hard practice football became the first major sport to be launched on the campus and Livingstone College was challenged. On December 27, 1892, during a lusty snow storm, the Methodists and Presbyterians met in Salisbury and a new sound of cleated shoes resounded throughout the vicinity until a figure was announced, "Biddle 4 — Livingstone 0", thus ending the first episode of an athletic saga that was to increase in intensity and scope.

The Biddle Line-up for this historic moment was:

Left Guard .....	C. E. Rayford
Left Tackle .....	Charles Shute
Left Halfback .....	W. H. Morrow
Center .....	Hawkins
Quarterback .....	G. E. Caesar
Fullback .....	W. L. Metz
Right End .....	J. J. Robinson
Right Guard .....	L. B. Ellerson
Right Tackle .....	William Haig
Right Halfback .....	Mebane

Substitutes: J. E. Bowman, J. H. Hutton, L. M. Plair, B. B. Funderburk.
H. L. Peterson, Manager.

Among Livingstone's Line-up were: J. W. Walker, Captain, the late president Trent, Rightback and manager.

This event was commemorated forty-eight years later by a plaque which now hangs in the trophy display hall in the new gymnasium of Johnson C. Smith University. The plaque is inscribed as follows:

First Negro College Football Game
Livingstone—0; Biddle—4
December 27, 1892
Presented by National Classic
December 15, 1940
Washington, D. C.

This activity was later played in November and became known as "The Turkey Day Classic" with other schools being booked for the contest.

The Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) was organized in 1912 with Hampton, Howard, Lincoln, Shaw and Virginia Union as Charter members. Johnson C. Smith University did not join the Association until 1924. Despite the fact that the Bulls have missed the Championship Birth in Football in that Association it has long been recognized as a formidable contender. On November 25, 1938, the Golden Bulls clinched the North Carolina State Championship by rumbling over the mighty Aggies of A&T College by a score of 18 to 12. Coached by Eddie Jackson the Bulls featured Freshman Choo-Choo Jackson, Kenny Powell, and Jack Brayboy in this performance. In 1940, Morgan State College was declared CIAA Champions for that year with a 5-1 record. The Golden Bulls had a 4-1-1 record and defeated the Morgan Bears. There was a pall over the Bull-Pen in 1942, however. When Coach Eddie Jackson called the roll for early practice, there were Bill Toles, Eddie McGirt, Bill Cox, "Hank" Murray, Bill Chase, "Sandy" Green and "Spider" Webb, all absent from the "Pen" but present and accounted for on a larger team — Uncle Sam's World War II Team.

On the basis of available written records only, the Staff has poled its All-Star Team of the Past: C. R. Frances, "Perk" Williams (Later Coach), Henry Steptoe, "Crip" Hilton, "Turkey" Russell, The Steele Brothers "Red" Ellis, Jethro Henry, "Dummy" Fowlkes, "Babe" Ray Harris, Ed. O'Daniels, Willie Bryant, "Bull" Meadows, Kenny Powell, Ralph Bogle, "Red" Williams, Jack Brayboy, "Choo-Choo" Jackson, "Bruiser" Malone, "Javis" Amos, "Pete" Peterson, "Ram" Young, "Tackhammer" Brooks, Jack Martin, G. E. McKeithen, "Bill" Oliver, the Four Horsemen from New Rochelle: Bud Spencer, "Swanee" Starks, "Slim" McLaurin, and "Boone" Wheeler; Cleve Muldrow, "Ace" Bailey, Eddie McGirt, "Whip" Curry, "Chippie" Chase, "Tarzan" Fletcher, Tommy Pogue, Basil Leach, "Duke" Brown, "Chris" Taylor, Sampson Dickens, Fab Camp, Pettis Norman (member of the Dallas Cowboys' Team), and Allen Coles. Our sincere apologies to all the other stella football heroes of the Bull-Pen whose names do not appear here. The Gold and Blue will ever float proudly over you and the Smith light will follow you wherever you roam.

Two of the memorable coaches of the pioneer football days were Dr. E. French Tyson, and Coach "Perk" Williams. "Perk", who still lives in his comfortable home on Beatties Ford Road in Charlotte, N. C. speaks warmly of one unforgettable experience of the gay twenties involving the present administration of the Institution. Verdant and energetic, yet unknown as presidential timber, "Rufus" came out for early football practice and was put on the line facing Seth C. Vanlandingham. "Seth" executed all the gory tactics of a Bull and "Rufus" did not return for further practice.

BASEBALL IN THE BULL-PEN

The second major sport to become recognized in the Bull-Pen was Baseball. Livingstone College was again the constant contender. J. O. Cannady, Editor of the 1929 Bull tells the story.

Who started all this baseball anyway? The Easter Monday Game had its beginning in the year 1900. That year Biddle played Livingstone in Football on January 5th. The weather was extremely cold and a mist of snow kept the players blinded, and no scores were made by either team. A discussion arose between the teams (players) as to the merits of each team. Jack Logan, a senior from Biddle, suggested that the two teams meet in baseball on Easter Monday, the winning team to be given credit for the football game as well. The two teams met and though no record was kept of the final score, it is known that each team made more than twenty-five (25) scores and the game was called off at the end of the seventh (7th) inning on account of darkness. After that the Easter Game became an annual affair and finally became a classic in 1915. In 1928, each team had won an even number of games.

Over a long period of time football and baseball remained the major sports attraction on the campus with the Easter Monday Classic commanding a slight popularity edge on the Turkey Day Classic. Coach Scales drilled his baseball team into the championship of North Carolina in 1928, with a 12-1 record. Pitchford, McKeithan, J. O. Ellis, B. G. Hayes, J. O. Horne, H. Lindsay, T. M. Martin, W. Williams, Red Williams, J. Tucker, C. Walker, Bill Oliver; and G. W. Brown were stars on this team.

Dr. R. L. Douglass was one of the early coaches of this sport. Smith discontinued baseball as a major sport in the early forties. The CIAA dropped baseball competition in 1934 — resumed it again in 1946 but it soon vanished from the Association's program of major sports.

The baseball season of 1928 was one of the most glorious in Smith's history. The old reliable coach Scales drilled his boys into the championship of North Carolina. That team of diamond heroes was really unbeatable. Losing only one game out of 13, this Smith team piled up a record sufficiently impressive to cause numerous individuals to designate it as National Collegiate Champions for 1928.

BASKETBALL IN THE BULL-PEN

The Hartley Woods Memorial Gymnasium was erected on the campus in 1928, and was immediately pressed into full-blown service.

Basketball, previously a popular intramural sport, rapidly became the third major sport in the Bull-Pen following the erection of the gymnasium. Coach Randy Taylor, through skill and hard labor, tutored the Bulls into a position to be respected by all schools engaging in CIAA competitive sports.

Always well coached and dressed, the Golden Bulls became one of the best drawing-cards in CIAA competition.

The Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association staged its first Basketball Tournament in 1946. In 1952 the Golden Bulls were runners-up in tournament play against the "Dream Team" of Virginia Union University. The Panthers will always remember this contest as one of the most brilliant and colorful in their long string of experiences. During the 1959-1960 playing season, the Golden Bulls clinched the CIAA Championship for regular season play and again in 1961 played in tournament finals against Winston-Salem Teachers' "Mighty Rams".

Among the many Basketball Bulls who have made names for themselves and their Alma Mater is Freddie "Script" Neal who joined the sensational Harlem Globe Trotters and spread the fame of the Bull-Pen across many foreign countries, as well as at home, as "Curly-Top". Those who know Script know that his shaven head is his trade mark. Other notable Basketball Bulls among the many who have gone out from the "Pen" are: "Prem" Bowers, "Bill" Oliver, Afred "Seaport" Fields, John Martin, "Greedy" Guishard, William Monroe, "Wee Willie" Watt, Otha Harris, James Hester, Claude Saunders, James Hargett, "Jimmy" Smith, "Jimmy" Herbert, George Johnson, Johnny Woodruff, Edward Dowdy, and many others whose names must appear in another list.

Inadequate records again make it necessary for the Staff to apologize profusely for the absence of names of many of the greats which we know should appear here.

BASKETBALL SQUAD NORTH CAROLINA CHAMPIONS, 1928-'29

The cage season at Smith this year witnessed the first recognition here of basketball as a major sport. In response to Coach Taylor's call, there appeared a veritable army, willing, but exceedingly inexperienced. With not one man showing more than a possible potentiality for big-time basketball, Coach Taylor began the real task of building a team. After two weeks of intense drill the number of men out for the squad had been reduced to fifteen. These men worked hard, the coach worked harder, and the result was a basketball team.

The quint did not win all of its games; it did not win half of them, but it did play real basketball against some of the best teams in collegiate circles. The first game of the season was with Lutheran College of Greensboro, N. C., at Smith. Taylor's green team had a real sinure that evening and romped away with a 32-12 win. The Lutheranes were outplayed, outfought, simply outclassed. This game was featured by the stellar playing of Jones, Christian and Avant. Avant was high scorer with 17 points.

TRACK AND TENNIS IN THE BULL-PEN

In 1930, the Johnson C. Smith University Board of Athletic Control elevated Track and Tennis to the level of major sports in the Bull-Pen. In the absence of a cinder track on the campus, the Bulls trained on the cinder path of the Central High School. This congenial arrangement lasted until the McCrorey-Sanders Athletic Field was constructed with provisions for track and tennis on the campus. Tennis Courts of regulation specifications were provided later. With Kenneth Whitted and Isreal Lee as spark plugs, these sports reached full maturity in a relatively short period.

In Tennis, the Bulls' CIAA record excels that of all their other sports competition. The tennis team, under the continuous coaching of Dr. W. R. Coleman, with the exception of the time that he was on study leave, won CIAA Championships for the following years: 1934, 1935, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, and again in 1960. The Bulls, therefore, have been eight times CIAA Champions and at all times brilliant competitors in tennis.

Some of the unforgettable names in this phase of Bull-Pen activity include: "Wee Willie" Watt, S. Graham, R. Corbett, John T. Stocking, Robert Hardy, Drew Williams, Denton Johnson, Harry Shermon, Baron Stroud.

Again, our apologies for the missing names which should extend this list over many pages.

Five of the staff now manning the Bull-Pen graduated from it and their Alma Mater as follows:

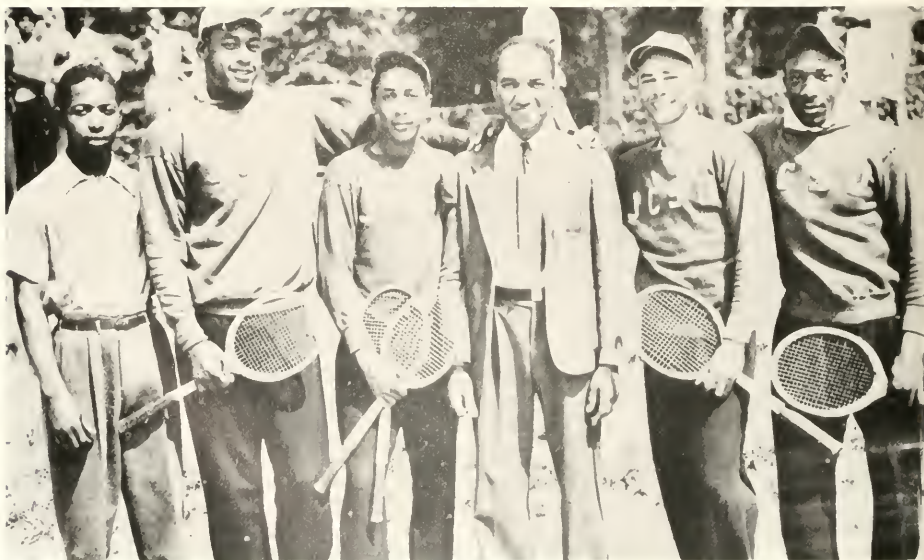

Jack S. Brayboy, '43 — (Ph.D.) Athletic Director, Ch. Div. of Education

Kenny S. Powell, '43 — Track Coach & Assistant with Football, etc.

Eddie C. McGirt, '48 — Head Football Coach, etc.

William P. McCullough, '54 — Head Basketball Coach, etc.

Moses S. Sharp, '61 — Assistant in the Physical Education Department

BOXING IN THE BULL-PEN

In 1938, Boxing became a major sport in the Bull-Pen. One year later, 1939, the Bulls won Championships in two divisions of the sport. The story is told by the University Student, April 15, 1939:

"At the recent CIAA Boxing and Wrestling Tournament, held at Howard University, Johnson C. Smith University Pugilists outstepped and out punched their opponents to win the 1939 CIAA Championship. The Squad was under the direction of Coach H. S. Adams.

This was Smith's first Boxing Championship title as boxing has only been organized for two years.

The Bulls tied Hampton in 1940 for the Championship title and in 1941 won the championship again."

Many great names have been made in the Bull-Pen and although Time and Change have brought about new concepts and techniques, the old basic guidelines remain the same. The idea that, "Victory, though sweet, is not the only worthy benefit to be derived from, clean, creative, and intelligent participation in athletics", has not changed through the years.

A glance at the improved and expanded program since 1900 will reveal sixty-seven years of amazing growth and enrichment.

CHEERLEADERS

A very vitalizing and colorful phase of the athletic program is the cheering squad.

During the lean-victory years of the forties the high spirited group below never missed a game, not a beat. They held their banner high with the Golden Bull plunging ahead as an incentive to the Bulls on the gridiron.

The cheerleaders concept, however, has undergone many significant changes during the past decade. Formations, rhythms, and acrobatic stunts have become a major part of their entertainment. They also lead the yells.

SWIMMING IN THE BULL-PEN

In 1961, a new gymnasium-classroom building replaced the out-grown Hartley Woods Memorial Gymnasium which was constructed for a student body of about five hundred in 1928. At that time, it was one of the few, if not the only regulation size gymnasium for participants in the CIAA.

In the West Wing of the New Gymnasium was installed a regulation size swimming pool which conforms to all State and CIAA specifications. This addition greatly enhanced the total athletic program and specifically Bull-Pen activity. With Dr. Jack S. Brayboy as swimming instructor, swimming was immediately added to the list of requirements of all students for graduation.

Swimming is the last sport that the Golden Bulls added to its competitive activity in the CIAA.

After a few years of keen competition, Coach Cox is proud to display records and trophies to indicate that this sport is rapidly gaining a position of respectability in CIAA Competition.

Among those who have won recognition in CIAA Competition are: Freddie Clinton, Charles Harris, Macy McRae, and Ronald Wilson.

Thus the chronicle of activity in the Bull-Pen adds a rich chapter to the Biddle-Smith Story.

Golf: Robert Hall Johnson, Julius Bell, Walter Larget and Thornwell Watson.

1966-67

Top: Fullback Bruce Bivins struggles for additional yardage. The physical strain of this contest is exhibited in this illustration. The Bulls went on the defeat Shaw Bears 19-6.

BANG is the true name of the game of football and the Golden Bulls of 1967 really showed people how to get the noise out of the least dynamite at times this season. Coach E. C. McGirt's light weight's waited until the second half of the season to demonstrate their ability and ended with an overall record of 5-3-1. C I A A competition was more successful for the Herdas ended up third in the conference with a 3-2-1 season slate.

Season highlights included the near upset of powerful A&T College 34-13. The score was not indicative of the caliber of the Bull's play.

Homecoming was celebrated in perfect style. Seven thousand fans cheered the Herdon to a smashing 28-12 victory over hapless Winston-Salem State. The Bulls showed the Homecoming crowd their latest offensive power in the first quarter by scoring 20 points in 11 minutes of play.

McGirt's chargers ended the intercollegiate season by tying C I A A second ranked Livingstone College 13-13. In that contest the Bull's defensive backfield intercepted Livingstone's All-America quarterback, Alfred Tyler, five times and led the way for the upset.

Individual players receiving honors were: Curt Peters, second team All C I A A; Richard Debreist, Willie Dusenbury, Bennie Johnson, and Ivory Tate honorable mention all-conference.

Bull fans will always remember the passing of Lee Bohler and flankerback Joe Johnson; each ranked high in C I A A statistics.

THE MOMENT OF TRUTH!!!

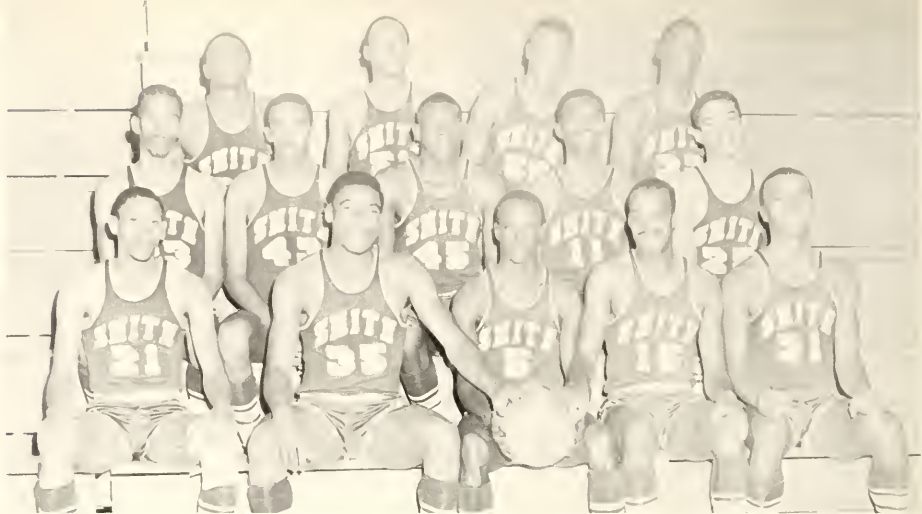

The Golden Bulls hardcourt team ended the 1966-67 season with an overall 16-11 slate; conference-wise they stood 11-5. Their CIAA record was good enough to give them the number 7 spot in the annual CIAA Tournament in Greensboro.

The seasons' highlight came in the first round of the tourney; the Bulls upset 2nd seeded Norfolk State 70-66.

Coach Bill McCollough and Assistant Joe Alston managed to weld the underclass squad into a proficiently working unit. Only senior Bill Harmon will be missing from this year's squad. The coaches look forward to next year with anticipation.

Flying like a bird on the wing, junior Cody King harrasses A&T's Carl Hubbard. Action like this kept Bull fans excited all season.

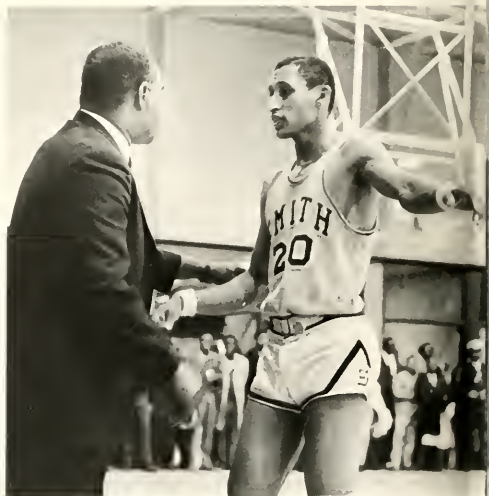

First Row: Cody King, Jackie Wilson, David Williams, William Harmon, Ted Allen; Second Row: Arthur Cross, Adams, Hubert Davis, John Busby, David Poignard; and Third Row: Arthur Canada, Tony Vaz, Wilton Enoch, and Sterling Terry.

Hey, Cut, are they really trying?

Come on now, baby.

Coaching requires calmness, discipline, and, most of all, patience. All things don't go your way all of the time. These scenes of Coach Bill McCollough shows him during victory and defeat exercising great restraint.

Frosh center, Wilton Enoch, goes high to control the opening tap against NCC.

"Stretch" is the name of the game of basketball. Anywhere on the court, bodies are projecting themselves toward the goal. Smith's jumpers are the nearest things to a astronauts in the state of North Carolina.

Eighteen eyes are on Sterling Terry as he goes for broke against NCC. The shot was good.

Up, up, and away seems to be the motto of forward John Busby.

Mike Turner goes for two.

A few interested spectators include Dr. Perry of Smith and Dowdy of A&T.

Senior Bill Harmon, known for his first jumper, is the squad's only senior.

Hubert Davis, whose absence was felt all season, dunks during an early game.

It has been a privilege and a pleasure to salute this centenarian—Johnson C. Smith University.

High on this hill with the faith of the founders deeply carved in its cornerstone, "Sit Lux", it has, for one hundred years, radiated the Light of Truth. John C. Smith University, we salute you.

To those Lamp-Lighters who envisioned this guiding star and started its light flickering, though dimly, one hundred years past, we express our warmest Gratitude.

To those dedicated builders, who up through the years, kept the faith of the founders and increased the span and intensity of that Light—our sincere Thanks.

Yesterday - Today - Tomorrow - so imperceptibly bound together - we pause to wonder whether they are but one and the same - one vast expanse. Within a split second the present becomes the past and tomorrow - now. In retrospection it seems only a short span since weary travellers started up stepless stairs toward this unknown tomorrow. That tomorrow is now and we contemplate the future in the language of that wise bard, Langston Hughes,

We have tomorrow
Bright before us

Yesterday, a night-gone thing
A sun-down name
And dawn today

Broad arch above the road we came
We march.

With this note of optimism in our hearts we continue the climb toward a brighter tomorrow with the light of this guiding star revealing the way.

Johnson C. Smith University - Our beloved Alma Mater - We Salute You!

LAST WORDS . . . .

We the members of the CENTENNIAL BULL wish to thank Mrs. Inez M. Parker for the guidance she gave us throughout the year, as we attempted to publish the CENTENNIAL BULL. Without the wisdom and patience she gave to us, publication of the book would not have been possible.

Every organization must have a leader. Mrs. Parker has assumed this position and has made it possible for the CENTENNIAL BULL to surpass all expectations. All that we have accomplished we owe directly to the tenacity and strength of this marvelous woman. "Into each life the sun will shine." The CENTENNIAL BULL found its ray of sunlight with Mrs. Inez M. Parker. Mrs. Parker, our hearts belong to you!
